Allies Press Chase Of Shattered Reds; Fight Rages in Seoul

TOKYO, Thursday, Sept. 28 (AP)—The U. S. flag flew over burning Seoul today while United Nations troops pressed a giant mopup on all fronts of the broken and scattered North Korean army.

U. S. Eighth Army strategists considered the back of the once-powerful Communist army virtually broken. Final victory was believed in sight. But hard fighting still lay ahead. And the fight was still hot in Seoul.

U. S. Marines and infantrymen threw hot steel from close range at stubbornly-resisting North Korean Reds barricaded in buildings in the old capital's smoking business district. United Nations troops now hold nearly all the city.

A tenth corps communique Thursday reported "large groups" of North Korean troops and vehicles were spotted moving north out of Seoul, indicating the Reds were attempting "to extricate as many salvageable units as possible."

The communique said U. S. Seventh division infantrymen met "moderate resistance" in mopping up Reds in the northeastern suburbs of Seoul.

Other Seventh division troops, it added, were engaged in sharp fighting with two tank-supported Red companies 30 miles south of Seoul.

TANK-TIPPED columns flaring out from all sides of the old southeastern United Nations beachhead kept up a relentless pressure on the retreating enemy.

Best estimates at Eighth Army headquarters were that a maximum of 50,000 Communist troops were sealed off deep in South Korea by the kinkup Tuesday night of U. S. forces from the southeast beachhead with those coming down from Seoul.

This gives the Allies a continuous line from the Seoul area 215 miles southeastward to the port of Pusan.

Besides this linkup, the great Allied offensive from the southeast which began Sept. 16 had cut two-thirds the way across the waist of South Korea, spread more than half way across at the southern end of the peninsula, and pressed to within 70 miles of the 38th parallel on the east coast.

The 38th parallel divided North and South Korea. It was across this line that the North Korean army, now staggering to defeat, invaded South Korea three months and three days ago.

Although General MacArthur's headquarters has declared Seoul officially liberated" troops of the U. S. First Marine and Seventh Infantry Divisions fought building-to-building into the heart of sprawling, weathered old Seoul.

RED PEACE BID RUMORED IN U. N.

Delegates Say Not Aware Of North Korean Feelers For Allied Settlement

NEW YORK, Sept. 27 (AP)—Rumors were current at the United Nations assembly today that the Communist North Koreans have indicated willingness to stop fighting and accept a U. N. settlement. There was no confirmation of these rumors and queries to delegates met only replies that they knew nothing about such peace feelers.

Trygve Lie, secretary-general, said he knew nothing about the rumors and had not in fact heard them. His chief assistant at the assembly, Andrew W. Cordier, said the U. N. had no communications from the North Koreans. He rechecked the U. N. cable office to make certain that no late communications were in the Lake Success office.

Sir Benegal N. Rau, chief of the Indian delegation, denied to newsmen that his delegation had been approached by the North Koreans. The rumors had said that Rau's delegation was a "go-between" in the negotiations but Rau said that was not correct.

The American delegation said it knew nothing about the rumors. This was the answer from the State department in Washington also.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Jacob A. Malik was shown a copy of one dispatch. He shrugged his shoulders and said he knew nothing of the rumor.

The reports first appeared in the Paris newspaper Figaro, an Indian spokesman said, and were immediately denied by the government in New Delhi.

There was no clear picture of

Farm, Home Exhibits At North Coventry Show Variety, Color

All the color and variety of the harvest was crowded into the well-lighted interior of the North Coventry agriculture building yesterday afternoon and last night.

It was the fourth annual North Coventry Farm and Home Products show sponsored jointly by the township grange, Norco High school vocational department and the school's Future Farmers of America.

About 300 persons in all came to mill around the long paper-covered tables, eyeing and sometimes testing the exhibits. The crowd and number of entries about tied the previous year's show, said Neal Burtner, agriculture teacher at the school.

The show was split in two parts, each in its own half of the building.

There was the farm show with its paper plates of grain, green beans, shiny red tomatoes, neat

LACK OF WATER HALTS FIGHT TO SAVE DWELLING

McDonald Family Loses Nearly All Possessions In Upper Frederick Blaze

Fire leveled the new home of Andrew K. McDonald on Becker road, Upper Frederick township, yesterday afternoon and destroyed virtually all the family's possessions.

McDonald estimated the loss at $12,000, of which approximately $8500 was covered by insurance.

He managed to save his insurance papers, a television set and a radio, but everything else—furniture, clothing, refrigerators and other household equipment—were gone.

The fire was believed to have been started by a defective oil-burning space heater. It began at noon. By 1:30 o'clock the house and its contents were in ashes.

Two fire companies raced to the Green Lane RD house, but after they exhausted the water they carried with them they were unable to use nearby wells.

McDonald commented later, "If there had been enough water we could have saved three-quarters of this place. The fire was just starting when the fire companies got here."

He added with resignation, "Well, I guess they did the best they could with what they had."

THERE WERE TWO wells, firemen said. One was on McDonald's property, only 10 feet from the house. Firemen of the Green Lane and Pennsburg companies told McDonald that their hoses were too large to fit into the small opening of the artesian well.

Another well was on a neighboring property. This one, however, was 65 feet deep, and the water level too far down for the Green Lane company's suction hose, which could take water from a depth of not more than 30 feet, it was explained.

The Green Lane Fire company brought 250 gallons of water in their apparatus, while the Pennsburg Fire company had 1000 gallons. This water was gone in less than half an hour, however.

McDONALD WORKS in the inspection department of the Spicer Manufacturing division of the Dana corporation, from 11 p. m. to 7 a. m.

He was alone in the house and asleep when the fire began. His wife, Anna, was at work at the Rosenau brothers dress factory, Red Hill, and their three children were at school.

The two older girls, Joan, 15, and Carol, 12, were attending school in East Greenville, while 7-year-old Bonnie Mae was at the Upper Frederick township Church school, on Route 73.

Victim Plans to Start Building a New Home

Still shaken by a fire that destroyed his home and all his possessions yesterday afternoon, Andrew K. McDonald, of Green Lane RD, said a few hours later: "I'm going to start building right away. I'll put topsoil over this and start a new house."

McDonald had built his own home only two years ago.

After the blaze was out, offers of help came to McDonald from his neighbors and other friends, as well as from the Salvation Army.

"Everyone has been wonderful," he said. "We've received several offers of help."

After Capt. Meral Cox, of the Salvation Army, told him that he would supply clothing and other immediate needs, McDonald said, "It certainly was fine. I had no idea they would come out here and help us this way."

Penn Village Project To Get Formal Okay

Montgomery County Housing authority is scheduled to pass a general resolution today approving the program for erecting the new Federal housing project near Penn Village.

This formality will be followed in the near future by approval of detailed drawing plans, Edmund J. Koser, executive secretary, reported. The authority should be ready to award contracts near the end of the year.

Richard F. Smale, chairman, is expected to preside at the meeting, in the county courthouse, Norristown.

Valley Forge Army Hospital Reopening Plunges Phoenixville Into Confusion

PHOENIXVILLE, Sept. 27—While a handful of key personnel are moving to put the Valley Forge Army hospital at Phoenixville on an active status by Sunday, a paradox of confusion hovers over the entire community which just six months ago fought bitterly to retain the mammoth institution.

It was clear, today, the first day following Washington orders to prepare the hospital for Korean wounded by mid-October, that readying the 1600-bed facility would be a tremendous administrative headache.

Although it originally had been announced that the first casualties would arrive by Oct. 15, Col. Albert R. Dreisbach, deputy commanding officer, said tonight that the wounded should begin to arrive five days earlier.

In the face of the hospital's need to obtain in haste a military

Sanding Machine Interests Bolivian Visitors

—Mercury Staff Photo

Pottstown's vocational education program, which has brought visitors from near and far, has them from the farthest yet as two educators from Bolivia examine the new spindle sander in machine shop No. 1. They are visiting the best examples of vocational education in America and chose Pottstown as a major stopping point. Left to right: Julio Lairana, director of the National Industrial school, La Paz, Bolivia; Dr. Ovidio Suarez, president of the Council of Industrial Education, La Paz; John E. Grastorf, educationist with the Institute of American Affairs, and W. O. Cressman, director of Pottstown's vocational education. The visitors took a drawing of the sander with them.

Bolivians Here For Vocational School Visit

Two leaders of education in Bolivia, looking for the best U. S. vocational education, made a detailed inspection of Pottstown's Vocational school yesterday morning.

They were Julio Lairana, director of the National Industrial school in La Paz, Bolivia, and Dr. Ovidio Suarez, president of the Council of Industrial Education in La Paz.

They were accompanied by John E. Grastorf, an educational worker with the Institute of Inter-American Affairs, under the State Department. A New Yorker, he has been working in Bolivia as a coordinator of U. S.-Bolivian educational projects.

The Bolivians, who speak Spanish and some English, kept W. O. Cressman, director of vocational education, busy with questions during the day. They also visited all shops and saw a movie on the school's work.

'Piecemeal' Park Development Hit

By EDWARD B. ROSENBERG
(Mercury Staff Writer)

Money should be spent to complete one project at a time at Memorial park instead of being "spread thin," a park planning expert told a combined meeting of the Memorial Park association board of directors and the Pottstown Recreation commission last night.

Allen Buritt, of New York City, park planning specialist of the National Recreation association, spoke to 14 representatives of the two groups in borough hall.

He went over plans of Memorial park, made specific suggestions and finally recommended a revision of the general plan "to bring it up-to-date." A revision should cost "not more than $150," Buritt said.

Thomas A. McCaslin 3d, president of the Park association, said he wanted to speak to other members before having the revision made, but asked Buritt to send his group and the Recreation commission a written list of recommendations.

The board members felt that the price of the revision was low. Buritt explained that the National Recreation association would do the job, as it does other work, on a non-profit basis.

BURITT ARRIVED here late yesterday morning and spent the afternoon at Memorial park, going over the grounds carefully and comparing the work done and in progress with the over-all plans.

Last night, he avoided adversely criticizing the park. Instead, he made constructive criticisms and offered specific suggestions.

One of the things he emphasized was the need for completing one project at a time, like a bandshell, a baseball diamond or a new surface on a tennis court.

Since the public is asked for funds, he pointed out, the public should be permitted to see concrete results of its generosity.

By-Pass on King St. Urged 4 Years Ago

A Mercury reporter's attempts Tuesday night to find a "happy" way to drive from one end of Pottstown to the other almost shook the dust off a report by a Philadelphia traffic engineer made just four years ago.

The reporter's experiences, published yesterday, showed that comfort and convenience are not considered in the system for through traffic here.

High street, the main vehicular artery, stops traffic time and again with its 12 unsynchronized lights between Manatawny street and Rosedale drive.

King and Beech streets, running parallel to High, are poorly surfaced, badly illuminated at night and offer two traffic lights each, and five and four stop signs, respectively.

On Oct. 4, 1946, LeVerne Johnson, Philadelphia traffic expert, offered specific recommendations to the borough following a two-day survey he made in an effort to iron out snarls in Pottstown's traffic system.

His recommendations listed High street and King street as thoroughfares to be brought under more searching study. No mention was made in that report of Beech street and its potentialities.

JOHNSON recommended King street as a by-pass for traffic off High, with a control signal at High and Adams for effective "feed" to and from King.

However, he did not apparently suggest that King, as a by-pass, be throttled with stop signs at York, Evans, Franklin and Washington streets. He did recommend automatic signals at Charlotte and at Hanover streets, which are heavily traveled.

Johnson raised the point that

Foundry Workers To Get Pay Boost

Eighty workers at March-Brownback company's foundry at South Charlotte and South streets will get a wage increase of ten percent, effective Oct. 16.

This was announced yesterday afternoon by a spokesman for management shortly after the contract was signed by William B. Laytham, company president, and representatives of Local 32, International Moulders and Foundry Workers union (AFL).

Paul Wade, secretary of the union, said negotiations had begun the past Thursday.

There was a shutdown of the plant yesterday, as workers sought clarification on the starting date of the promised pay raise. Both management and the union said the contract had settled the issues and that the men will return to the job today.

Technically, the pay raise becomes effective Oct. 15, but this is a Sunday, when most employes are not working.

Hazy Heavens Here Seen Last Results Of Canadian Fires

Yesterday's blurred sky was the only reminder of the blue sun and moon of the first days of the week.

And, weathermen believed, the haze was caused by the same Canadian forest fire smoke which gave us a sun of a different color.

The explanation is this:

Great clouds of smoke were blown over the northeast part of the country from the Alberta province forest fires 2000 miles to the northwest. An expanding cool high pressure area from Central Canada created the winds.

The particles of wood smoke in the air blotted out the green rays in the spectrum of the sun's light allowing only red and blue to get through, thus, the lavender effect of sun and moon.

THE SHIP GETS A RUDDER

Minute Men Clear Chairman Ills

Things were confused at yesterday's meeting of the Pottstown Minute Men when the group found itself without a chairman, but they were straightened out finally.

John B. Hartenstine Jr., chosen chairman on Sept. 13, at a meeting he did not attend, declined to accept the post. He told the group that the press of other civic duties prevented him from taking on still another.

Yesterday, Hartenstine went further by sending in his resignation from the Minute Men.

The 13 members at the meeting in the Howard Johnson restaurant then called for the promotion of newly-elected Vice Chairman Arthur K. Switzer to the chairmanship.

BUT SWITZER, feeling slightly ill, was not there to be asked about it. He said later by telephone that he would accept the job, however.

Finally, the Minute Men elected Hermann Maack Jr. vice chairman.

Dr. Charles A. Baylor immediately proposed a change in the by-laws, to forbid anybody being made an officer unless the nominee is present at the meeting. The group will vote on this change at its Oct. 11 meeting.

Another by-law change to be voted on at the next meeting would require at least 11 of the 21 members to be present at an election.

Edward J. Sweeney was accepted into the Minute Men yesterday. Dr. Harry K. Marcy Jr., outgoing chairman, was in charge of the meeting.

Salesman's Auto Jimmied by Thief

Jewelry valued at $395 was stolen from a locked car in a daring daylight burglary yesterday morning on North Evans street, between High and King streets.

L. B. Jones, Womelsdorf, a salesman of jewelry and handbags, said thieves jimmied open a front door of his car between 10:30 and 11:15 o'clock and removed a tray of 15 jeweled pins of zircons and rhinestones mounted on white metal.

He told Plainclothesman Lewis M. Borgiet, who investigated, that it was the first time he has been the victim of a burglary during his 28 years as a salesman for the firm of Morris, Mann and Reilly, Chicago, Ill.

Jones expressed the opinion that the burglary was committed by someone who had observed him and his car frequently in the past and knew which items could be taken and disposed of most quickly.

In taking the one tray, the thief or thieves ignored two other trays of jewelry on the floor in the front seat, as well as a wide assortment of other jewelry and women's leather goods in the back seat and trunk.

He estimated the value of his car's total contents at $4500. The $395 loss is insured, Jones asserted.

HIS CAR WAS parked by the blank wall at the rear of the YMCA building, on the west side of Evans street—the only side where parking is permitted along the street, which is one-way for northbound traffic.

The left door handle had been jimmied and the bottom of the door had been forced two inches away from the body of the car.

Borgiet questioned workers at the YMCA and at the row of stores on the east side of Evans street, and Patrolmen Michael Shanta, who had been making a motorcycle check for parking violators in that section during the period.

No one reported seeing anything suspicious, Borgiet asserted.

The salesman said he left his car at 10:30 o'clock to make a business call about handbags at Roth Shoe store, around the corner at 332 High street.

When he returned at 11:15 o'clock, he told police, he found the left front door of his big 1939 four-door sedan had been tampered with.

Someone working at the left door of a car parked there would have the blank wall to his back. And a view of him from the front would be cut off by the car.

But both High and Evans streets and King and Evans streets are busy intersections where groups of people often congregate.

In addition, there is a real estate office, an optometrist's office, a book shop, a photographic studio and an electrical appliance store on the east side of the street.

JONES TOLD police that three trays and a woman's expansion bracelet has been on the floor of the front seat.

The bottommost tray was the one with the pins worth $395. They trays left behind were one holding six women's mesh handbags with a total value of $35 and one holding four jeweled "fruit sprays" for lapels and hats with a total value of $14.

The trays were left on the floor. The expansion bracelet was found in the glove compartment.

Apparently untouched were two suitcases of jewelry and four suitcases of women's leather handbags

DECISION PENDS ON POLICE PLAN

Griffith Defers Action On Alternate Schedule Submitted by Strange

No decision has been reached on the alternate police schedule submitted by Earl R. Strange, police committee chairman, to replace the one now in effect, Burgess William A. Griffith announced last night.

"I have considered it," Griffith said, "but I haven't made any decision."

The proposed schedule has been in Griffith's hands for more than two weeks. He deferred action on the change immediately after he received it, pending the receipt of schedule suggestions from other councilmen.

A similar schedule was drawn up in the meantime by Gerald J. Daly, Ninth ward councilman, but because it duplicated Strange's proposal in almost every respect it was not submitted to Griffith.

"I withheld mine to avoid duplication," Daly said last night, "but I strongly endorsed the changes proposed by Mr. Strange. The only other suggestions I have concern the sergeants and I'm going to bring them up at the next meeting.

"I can't see why they have to walk beats while the men ride in the cars."

THE PAST WEDNESDAY Griffith said he would take a week to consider any alternate police schedules submitted by councilmen. When reminded of this last night he replied:

"I said I would give all of them consideration, but I didn't say I would adopt any. I'm going to take the one that gives the best protection for the people, not one that favors any one man."

The alternate suggested by Strange and endorsed by Daly would put the entire police force on three rotating eight-hour shifts. Each shift would work two weeks and no one would receive preference for seniority or any other reason.

Under the present schedule made up by Griffith and Chief of Police James A. Laughead, most policemen are forced to work ten weeks at night before getting two weeks on day shift. This situation has come about because a few men

It is fitting that a liar should be a man of good memory.—Quintilian.

Puzzle Solver Needed

A MERCURY newsman, assigned by his editor to find the easiest motoring route through Pottstown, east and west, returned to his typewriter a frustrated soul.

Readers of his splendid article can imagine him writing his report from a typewriter fastened to a mantlepiece.

His kidneys practically were unhinged by bumpy drives over crater-like King and Beech streets. His temper was frayed by High street's innumerable stops at unsynchronized lights. He got mad at stop signs, bit off his fingernails at "Thank-you-Ma'ams" and tore out most of his hair at double-parkers.

Is this what happens to motorists daily?

The motoring public, especially the Pottstown worker who's driving to work or driving home, undergoes as enervating an experience a couple times a day.

The working man is worn out when he gets through Pottstown's maze of lights, stop signs and over its washboard streets. The working man is the motorist who will travel several blocks out of his way to find a through street where he can drive without interruptions.

But Pottstown can offer him nothing like that.

Pottstown's many stop streets, its disgusting profusion of red lights, irks the motorist no end.

What's the answer?

Promises, promises, promises!

Borough hall promised to synchronize the High street lights.

Borough hall said a mathematician could sit down and figure out how to synchronize some of the lights, so that a motorist traveling at the speed of 25 miles an hour could hit a majority of the lights while they were green.

But no such mathematician was found. So far as this corner knows, no figure filbert has advanced a theory for speeding up and getting rid of High street traffic.

Maybe that's a difficult chore. This corner wouldn't know, because mathematics was its bugaboo.

But even this corner, which wouldn't know a logarithm from a lagniappe (aren't we talking of police?), by trial and error could figure out how to synchronize at least two sets of lights, like those on Hanover street at Beech and at Hanover streets.

There's another doozy, in case you don't know it! You're stopped for a red light at Hanover and Beech streets. Then you proceed blithely two squares and get stopped by another red light at Hanover and King streets.

As for North Charlotte street, there's another obstacle course. Relief was promised there, too, but no relief has been obtained.

The purpose of traffic lights, we have been told, is to smooth the flow of traffic.

They don't perform that purpose here. They kill traffic! They pile it up!

Surely there must be someone in that department of experts sometimes called the police department who would figure something out to end this terrible ordeal called driving to work.

Surely it is time that J. Max Creswell's hodge podge of stop signs is stirred around to make for easy-flowing traffic.

Is there an expert in the house?

What, No Chocolate Bars?

AN OBITUARY note that William F. R. Murrie, of Plainfield, N. J., originated the chocolate bar, serves as a poignant reminder that the world is really in its childhood.

Only a couple of years ago there died the man who invented the gumdrop, Percy S. Truesdell, of Columbus, O.

It is like hearing of the passing of the man who invented the fishing worm, or the first fellow who successfully concocted a sunset.

We could as easily conceive of a world without the fishing worms and the sunsets as one without gumdrops and chocolate bars.

That is, we couldn't conceive of it at all.

What it might have been like to be a kid who never could haul a paper-sackful of red and yellow gumdrops away from the corner drugstore, and who never found that the dime's worth of chocolate bar he had secreted in his hip pocket had run into an exceptionally hot day at the circus—and run is the word for it—we do not even profess to opine.

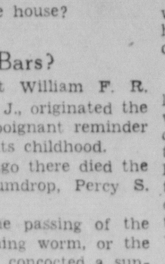

Enough, we guess, that chocolate bars are as timeless and as much a part of the cosmic scheme of things to youngsters today as the perihelion of Mercury is to Einstein.

PUNKIN CORNERS, September 27.

Editor, The Mercury,
Dear Sir 'n' Brother:

Wal, I see by the papers where the Pennsylvania election oratory is rising to new heights. Maybe that's why a resident of New Mexico reported he encountered a high wind so terrific it damaged the fillings in his teeth!

The way those Philly fans are suffering through the waning days of the season and the staggering of the Whiz Kids, they probably won't be able to use world series tickets. They won't have enough strength left to reach the ball park!

And say: A nearby resident complained he hurt his shoulder spanking his son. To Junior, that smacks of poetic justice.

Hopin' you air the same.

Faults of Traffic Control Stir Public Comment

The name and complete address of the author must accompany every contribution but on request will not be published. Letters not exceeding 250 words will receive preference.

Would Relocate Streets

To the Editor: Your article in this morning's paper is interesting in the matter of traffic control.

I was raised by my paternal grandfather. He repeatedly said to me, "Will, as you go through life, always think twice before speaking."

It is my careful thinking that suggests that The Mercury pick its best thinking man, the borough council select one councilman, and these two meet with a Pennsylvania State traffic control engineer to make the streets crossing High street so relocated that I may so synchronize the traffic controllers to satisfy all people driving automobiles in Pottstown.

Mrs. Price and I do repeatedly drive through Pottstown on High street and do get a green light at each street crossing if we are in front of traffic in either direction. But this requires careful timing.

The only way to get the traffic controllers satisfactory is to relocate the streets of Pottstown.

Pottstown W. H. PRICE

His Suggestion on Signs

To the Editor: There is plenty to harp about on the system of stop signs and traffic lights in Pottstown and you seem to have hit the nail on the head in your article.

But if I remember correctly you mentioned some time ago that it would take several thousand dollars to synchronize the traffic lights on High street and the borough doesn't have that much lying around loose.

Well, then, here's a suggestion that won't cost nearly as much and help an awful lot:

Make Beech and King streets through streets by removing the stop signs and putting them on the intersecting streets. Then the choice of stopping at High street lights or going straight through on King or Beech streets wouldn't be so exasperating.

Someone mentioned that the stop signs were put on King street and Beech street to prevent speeding. That's crazy! A driver would ruin his car by speeding on these streets, as your article pointed out.

Pottstown T. G. A.

Norristown's By-Pass

To the Editor: If your town officials want an example of the perfect way to provide a by-pass from traffic signals in the shopping section, let them take a look into Norristown.

There the by-pass carries traffic straight through, except the possibility of stopping at one light. And that is unavoidable.

Collegeville EDWIN E. B.

No Reason for Pomp

To the Editor: Please give my endorsement to whoever wrote that letter about the train wreck victims' funerals in Wilkes-Barre ("Calls Funeral A Show," Readers Say, Sept. 21).

It took a sick mind to make those plans for the funeral, with a long march through the streets of the city, booming cannon, and numbed families sitting in the Armory, waiting for the bodies to come.

There was no reason for the pomp and the sickening display that went with death in Wilkes-Barre. Whether it was a case of military sadism or just horribly bad judgment, I don't know. But it should never have happened.

The emotions of families who suddenly lose one of their members are deep and sincere. They shouldn't be twisted to the advantage of glory-seeking militarists.

Glass-Littered Intersection

To the Editor: There was a mess of broken glass in the center of the High and Adams street intersection Saturday night. How long it had been there I have no idea. But it might have damaged many an automobile tire.

Police cars must pass this intersection frequently. There are two service stations at this intersection. There also are residences in the immediate nieghborhood. Yet no one took time to sweep away the glass.

This is a typical Pottstown attitude. No one seems to care.

WASHINGTON

Gen. Marshall Agreed To Serve Only One Year

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27—Gen. George C. Marshall has agreed to serve as National Defense Secretary for only one year, according to his old Army friends. Neither his health nor his temperament—he is 69—will permit him to carry the burden beyond next Summer, in their opinion. He had hoped to spend his sunset years with his flowers and saddle horses in the nearby colonial hamlet of Leesburg, Va.

A one-year service, however, will fit in with the Administration's military and political plans. There is no doubt that General Marshall's experience will enable him to whip our fighting machine into top shape. His stature with the Europeans may persuade them to exert themselves more strenuously in building up an anti-Russian defense force.

LOAD: But General Marshall's acceptance lifts a heavy political load from President Truman's shoulders. He had been warned by National Chairman Boyle, Vice President Barkley, Speaker Sam Rayburn and other Capitol Hill leaders that Mr. Johnson's retention would cost the Democrats at least fifty House seats in the November elections.

It is expected that the United Nations Forces will have driven the North Korean invaders beyond the 38th parallel a year from now. When that happens, it is understood that General Marshall will retire with a report to the President that his "mission has been accomplished."

DEFEATED: Although the Marine Corps League made a fuss over President Truman when he appeared before their convention here to apologize personally for his reflection on them, there is solid, internal evidence that the men who fought at Guadalcanal have not forgiven him.

The officer who delivered the most eloquent pro-Truman statement at closed sessions was ex-Rep. Melvin J. Maas, of Minnesota, an extremely popular figure. His associations on Capitol Hill enabled him to do a good job for this unit when, as ex-Secretary Johnson once proposed, it be scrapped.

Mr. Maas quieted an incipient revolt against the White House, even after Mr. Truman made both written and personal apologies. He has received expressions of thanks from the White House.

But when he sought re-election as vice commander, which would have placed him in line for the top office in a year or so, he was defeated overwhelmingly.

UNIFORM: Despite the Korean "police action" and fears of another global war, roving politicians report to Republican and Democratic headquarters here that the presidential stock of "Ike" Eisenhower has slipped in recent months. Even the big business men and industrialists once plugging for him seem to have lost their interest. The practical pols never wanted him.

Ironically, General Eisenhower in civilian clothes and background does not seem to possess the glamour he did in the early years after V-J Day. It is ironic because his political friends advised him to "get that uniform off and keep it off, if you have any political ambitions." He did.

His backers had hoped that, once he quit the service, he would deliver a few indirect but damaging attacks on the Administration. Instead, he helped to frame the "Johnson economy budget" now held responsible for the military weakness revealed in Korea.

Should he be the candidate, and should the opposition try to make an issue of this question, the counterattack will be that Eisenhower must share responsibility along with Truman and Johnson.

Anything can and does happen in national politics in two years. But as of the moment the practical politicians in both parties believe that the Eisenhower boom has "busted" beyond hope of revival.

DESTINY: Nehru's recent statements show that he thinks the western powers, including the United States, still "look down" on the Asiatics, and regard them as "wards" rather than "equals." In his opinion, the people of that vast continent should be permitted to work out their own destiny, even if it means adoption of Communism. In view of their current abysmal misery, he probably feels that they could not be worse off than they are after centuries of the white man's rule.

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

ROGER P., 34, is manager of a large restaurant.

"Dr. Crane, last night we went to a party," his wife explained tearfully. "Roger doesn't drink, as a rule, but the hostess urged him several times, saying he simply must taste her concoctions or she'd be insulted, so he finally did.

"On the way home, we had an auto accident. I don't really know who was at fault.

"But Roger had liquor on his breath and was so upset by the crash that he didn't talk coherently. As a result, they locked him in jail all night.

"Now he is in disgrace with his boss, and has a costly hospital bill to pay, for one of the people in the other car received a broken pelvis and will be in a cast for months.

"Dr. Crane, why will people insist on trying to force non-drinkers into taking liquor?"

WOULDN'T IT be shortsighted for any intelligent person to harbor a traitor in his home who would destroy his reputation or even his life at any unexpected moment?

Alcohol is a traitor to every human being, for it lends itself so easily to excess that one cannot expect to be temperate in its use.

The very nature of alcohol is to anesthetize the nervous tissue so that the drinker loses his good judgment.

Each drink, like each deep breath of ether, clouds human thinking and temporarily reduces the active intelligence.

Too long, however, our prohibition people have tried to scare people away from alcohol by antiquated phrases and fanciful slogans like "demon rum."

Alcohol is a very useful chemical product. It is an excellent solvent for many of our medicines, as in such examples as tincture of iodine.

It is a good motor fuel, too, and I hope will someday be utilized to dilute gasoline so that our millions of farmers can receive some of the profits that a few thousands oil men now monopolize.

Alcohol also has high caloric value, exceeding pure sugar, starch or protein, which is one reason why drinkers tend to develop huge "bay windows."

But it is silly to use alcohol for food since it is too costly. A 5-cent candy bar has more calories than a 25-cent shot of whiskey.

Besides, you are not anesthetized by even a dozen candy bars, and then made liable for any auto accident that may involve your car.

Every sip of alcohol, whether in beer, wine or whiskey, begins to reduce your intelligence.

That's why salesmen employ liquor to dope their prospective customers, and it also explains the popularity of alcohol with men who coax their girl friends to imbibe, knowing that the morals of every person will go down with each additional swallow of spiritous liquors.

For morality is a product of the cerebral cortex, and demands high intelligence.

As our mental alertness declines, we forget our shrewd business judgment as well as our ethical codes.

The lumber office of J. Mengle Fisher, this borough, and the Champion Silk Mill at Stowe also were entered and various articles were stolen.

Stanley Kramer's worked out an unusual setup for movie sets —making use of it in filming "Cyrano de Bergerac." The sets are built on wheels! Production designer Rudolph Sternad was showing me how it's done. He built a substantial chunk of 17th Century Paris, indoors—streets, alleys and everything.

Then each building was put on wheels, and they were shifted easily about to create new streets and new scenes. Novel, huh!

Quite a battle on the set of "Warpath" in Montana. To keep down mosquitoes on the location site, workers sprayed a pond next to the Yellowstone river with creosote. Then they noticed trout coming to the surface — unable to breathe because of the spraying. So cavalrymen and Indians — movie version of course — adjourned picture-making, netted the stricken fish and carried them to the river itself. The fish lived happily ever after.

ALL AROUND THE TOWN

Those Series Tickets... In Ailing Dep't...

★ SERIES FEVER—Who'll get the first world series tickets in the Pottstown area? Let us know, will you? Give us a call. . . . Herbert F. Houck, Pottstown mortician, has completed a post-graduate course in mortuary management at Temple university. . . . A mystery siren has baffled East Enders for almost a week now. It has been heard on at least three nights within the past week by several person in that section. They describe it as a long high wailing note much like wartime air raid signals. The Mercury, checking inquiries about it, has called nearby fire and ambulance outfits, only to be told that the apparatus hasn't been moved for hours. Best guess seems to be that it's a kid with a whizz of a bike siren and some absorbent cotton for his ears.

ENLISTS—Marvin "Tweedy" Davidheiser, son of Mrs. Carrie Davidheiser, 829 North Charlotte street, enlisted in the air corps and has left for San Antonio, Texas, for his basic training. He's a graduate of Pottstown High school, with the Class of 1950. . . . Sgt. William D. Vanderslice, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Vanderslice, is with the Army Air corps in England. Recently injured, Sgt. Vanderslice convalesced at a rest camp in Germany and soon will start classes at Cambridge university, England. . . . Lt. Robert W. Lower, husband of Mrs. Margaret Lois Lower, Pottstown RD 2, has been awarded a bronze star medal for valor in action in Korea. Lieutenant Lower, the citation said, personally led litter jeeps of his medical platoon through heavy fire to evacuate wounded.

★ RECUPERATING — Earl S. Levengood the head of Levengood Dairies, is back at his home, 371 Walnut street, after a long vacation near Belgrade lake, Maine. He's been able to go to the office but only for very brief periods. When he'll be able to be on the job on a fulltime basis still is an open question. He's been suffering from a heart ailment for several years. . . . Daniel W. Guldin, North Coventry police chief, is on his feet again after a long bout with a heart ailment for several years. . . . Daniel light work but has been barred by his doctor from donning uniform for awhile. Dan hasn't learned exactly when he'll return to duty, which he's anxious to do. His friends may be calling him "Slim" pretty soon, for he lost 42 pounds during his illness.

NO DAYDREAM — Pottstown area motorists on Route 83 in Chester county and Route 422 in Berks county who thought they saw a huge tank go by them on the road yesterday morning were 100 percent right. It was an Army tank, between 35 and 45 tons, that was on its way from Eddystone, Delaware county, to the Reading armory. Devon State police and West Reading State police shared escort duties. . . . Two Pottstown students, John G. Baird and Julius J. Raymond, are registered at Moravian college in Bethlehem. Baird, of 74 West Fifth street, is a sophomore majoring in business administration. Raymond is attending classes this year for the first time.

★ HELP WANTED — Want to help an aged, indigent man who has been placed in the almshouse? The Salvation Army would like to furnish him with a portable radio. If you have one, would like to give it away, call Capt. Meral Cox at Pottstown 644. GIVE AWAY DEP'T—One-year-old female fox terrier. Mrs. Nicholas Kozel, 105 Howard street, Stowe. . . . YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

FORMATION of a clot in the veins of the feet or legs is always attended by the possibility of pulmonary embolism. This serious and frequently fatal condition results when a bit of the clot breaks off from its original location and travels through the blood stream to lodge in one of the tiny arteries of the lungs.

Ordinarily, the victim will have no previous warning that such an attack is imminent, but is suddenly stricken with severe pain under the breast bone and extreme shortness of breath. However, later investigation will usually reveal that a certain amount of straining preceded the attack and it is supposed that some such activity produces the dislodgment of the clot.

Other symptoms vary according to the size of the embolus or clot, the patient's general condition and, particularly, the condition of the lungs. In general, they are much like those which occur during an attack of acute coronary thrombosis, when a blood clot blocks one of the arteries which supply the heart with blood. In both instances, the patient turns ashen gray, the heart beat is rapid and weak, and the blood pressure is low. There is profuse sweating and the temperature often is below normal.

Not all cases, however, are so severe. In the milder cases, the patient may only spit up some blood and have but a slight pain over the lower part of the chest, the upper part of the abdomen, or in the shoulder.

As a rule, the condition is not difficult to diagnose. X-ray of the chest is helpful and the making of an electrocardiogram, which is an electrical tracing of the heart beat, is helpful in distinguishing the pulmonary embolism from a heart attack.

If the patient can survive the first crisis, he is likely to recover, but this largely depends on the size of the embolus and his general condition.

It is fortunate that the condition seems to occur, for the most part, in patients who are already in a hospital so that immediate treatment is possible by giving a sedative or quieting drug, by having the patient breathe pure oxygen and then, after several hours, by giving an injection of heparin into a vein, or dicoumarol by mouth. These substances slow down clotting of the blood.

It is important that pulmonary embolism be recognized promptly if it occurs. The treatment outlined will aid greatly in the patient's recovery.

Plans by Communists For 'Blitz Meetings' In Ruhr Are Bared

BONN, Germany, Sept. 27 (AP) — Allied and German officials said today they have discovered secret Communist plans to ignite a series of "blitz meetings" in ten or more major Ruhr cities beginning this weekend.

Serious clashes with the police are expected if hardened Communist youths, especially trained for the task, attempt to go through with their new "hate the West" campaign.

German officials said about 30,000 of these youths, trained in Eastern Germany in methods of agitation, creating disturbance and battling police, have been infiltrating into Western Germany to spearhead a new "national resistance" fight. Many were said to have boldly ridden interzonal trains with false identity papers supplied by Soviet authorities.

About 300 police at Duesseldorf today used rubber clubs to break up a demonstration of 200 Communists protesting British seizure of their new $480,000 five-story headquarters. The British said they needed the building to house a new division of troops being sent to Germany.

Dusseldorf is in the North Rhine-Westphalia, the state that includes the Ruhr.

East German Communists have been calling on their comrades in the west to put up stout resistance against the American, British and French occupation and hamstring German aid to Atlantic Pact defense measures.

GERMAN SOCIALIST party officials, who claim to have a good intelligence service in Eastern Germany, said a few Communist People's police have been smuggled to the west to direct the new resistance effort.

They and the 30,000 Communist youths were said to have been distributed in recent weeks to key Ruhr cities, including Cologne, Bochum, Dortmund and Soligen, in the British zone.

"Der tag," it was reported has been set for Oct. 1 when a huge rally of Communist youths from all over Germany was to have been held at Dortmund.

German officials banned the gathering, but the Communists were reported to be planning to go ahead with a "cultural" meeting. Cultural meetings do not require police permits.

THE SECRET PLANS were said to call for the Communists then to erupt into the streets in a surprise demonstration, or "blitz meeting."

Similar surprise demonstrations were said by German officials to be planned in several other cities.

Officials said their police forces were being groomed for a "quick reaction in order to teach the Communists a lesson."

They expressed confidence Western police could handle the situation, though British authorities said their occupation army has been given a routine warning of Communist plans.

"There will be a much bigger show this weekend than at Bochum last week," one British official remarked.

He referred to the disturbance last Sunday when hundreds of young Communists attempted to break up a miners' rally at which President Theodor Heuss of the Bonn republic was a speaker. About 800 young Communists were arrested, but were turned loose.

Fears that her son, Corp. Rent Control Consultant To Be Here Wednesdays

Landlords in the Pottstown area who have not raised rents since June 30, 1947, can make application for a 15 percent increase on Wednesdays in borough hall.

This was announced yesterday by the Philadelphia office of the Federal Housing Expediter's office.

A consultant will be on the second floor of borough hall from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. The plan opened yesterday with Edna Sempliner, Philadelphia, in borough hall for a few hours.

The increase is possible in Montgomery county under Federal housing legislation. Philadelphia county is not affected by it.

Convicted Slayer Given 11th Respite by Gov. Duff

HARRISBURG, Sept. 27 (AP)—Gov. James H. Duff today gave a 11th respite to Edward Hough, 35, first sentenced to die in the electric chair in March 1948 for the slaying of a Philadelphia policeman.

Hough, scheduled to be executed Oct. 2, will now go to the electric chair Dec. 4, pending a U. S. Supreme court appeal by an accomplice, David Almeida.

Cecil Ingling, Philadelphia policeman, was slain during the holdup of a chain store in 1947 by Almeida, Hough and another partner, James Smith. Smith was sentenced to life imprisonment in the case.

21 N. Y. Policemen Face Grand Jury in Racket Investigation

NEW YORK, Sept. 27 (AP)—Twenty-one policemen—some of them top brass—were ordered before Brooklyn's rackets-probing grand jury today in the first major cleanup move by Police Commissioner Thomas F. Murphy.

Murphy took office yesterday after a $20,000,000 gambling ring scandal led to the resignation of former Commissioner William P. O'Brien, although he personally was accused of no wrongdoing.

The six-foot, four-inch Murphy went into action in his first conference with Brooklyn District Attorney Miles F. McDonald.

McDonald claims his grand jury has the names of some of the police who took $1,000,000 a year in protection money—"ice"—from the betting ring.

AMONG THE OFFICERS ordered before the grand jury was Chief of Detectives William T. Whalen, who applied for retirement yesterday. He has been on sick leave since O'Brien resigned.

Also called before the jury was Chief Inspector August Flath, top uniformed man in the police department.

McDonald, who announced Murphy's action, did not name the others.

Inspector Flath was among the first of the officers to appear before the jury. Whalen appeared late in the day.

In the jury room at the same time as Flath was Harry Gross, admitted boss of the gambling ring.

$2500 Suit Is Filed Against Estate of Man Killed in Crash

By Staff Correspondent

NORRISTOWN, Sept. 27—The estate of a man killed in an automobile-truck crash in Pennsburg was made defendant for damages to the truck in a suit filed in Montgomery County court today.

The action was brought by G. H. Delp company, Reading, a wholesale grocery firm, against Mrs. Eva P. Koch, administratrix of the estate of Clifford E. Koch, 504 Main street, Red Hill.

Koch, 48, a Red Hill councilman and grocery clerk, was killed in the accident involving the small car he was driving and the grocery truck of the Reading firm the past May 19 at Eighth street and Montgomery avenue, Pennsburg.

The Reading firm charged Koch was responsible for the collision because of negligence. It contended its delivery truck was damaged beyond repair. It maintained that the fair market value of the vehicle was $2000 and that its salvage value after the crash was $150. It also paid towing charges of $85 and $55.55 for loss of cargo.

The plaintiff firm asks compensation for loss of the use of the truck for two and a half months as it seeks damage totalling $2500.

Youths He'd Here After Stealing Auto In B'oomfie'd, Ind.

Two youths, whose behavior seemed suspicious to Patrolman James Maloney when he found them in a 'gas'-less car on High street, confessed early yesterday to stealing the car from Bloomfield, Ind.

Maloney spotted their gray 1946 convertible parked on the south side of High street near the Reading concourse. By questioning an attendant at the nearby Red Arrow service station, Maloney found they had tried, vainly, to trade a bumper jack for gasoline.

The youth in the front seat, Roy G. Wiles, 18, Bloomfield, was in a state of partial undress. Albert C. Harris, 23, Bloomfield, was in the back seat.

Maloney brought them to borough hall. At first, they maintained they were brothers and were simply on their way to Philadelphia. They were unable to produce an owner's card.

Maloney and Desk Sgt. Harold E. Hahn continued the questioning and after a few hours, the pair admitted stealing the car from Bloomfield.

They were being held pending the arrival of an officer from Bloomfield.

PARK PLANNING —

too thin," Buritt noted, "people wonder where it's going."

A PRIORITY LIST should be drawn up, the park planner declared. For example, he suggested that work on the island, the most developed section of Memorial park, should be completed; then the baseball diamonds should be built, the picnic area enlarged, and other work done according to a definite plan.

Finally, Buritt said, the park should be turned over to the borough. "The best thing would be to have the recreation area under a municipal set-up, just like police and fire protection or anything else the city provides for you."

Toward the end of the meeting, park director Earl B. Bechtel suggested that the island be completed quickly and turned over to the borough.

Burgess William A. Griffith said to this suggestion, "You'll have to do a good selling job. Of course, I don't see any reason why the borough shouldn't take it over."

BURITT STRESSED "multiple use areas" in the first part of his talk. He illustrated by explaining that a tennis court, for example, could be used for other court games, like badminton, and can be converted for roller-skating, ice-skating and square dancing.

At Memorial park, he recommended specifically that full-size baseball diamonds be provided. "I think the crying need in this town is for baseball," he said. "There are very few places large enough for a full-sized baseball diamond."

Buritt recommended that the dilapidated bandshell be taken down, even if money is not available now to build a new one. The present shell, he said, is an eyesore and is discouraging to those who are asked to contribute money to help develop the park.

A simple, acoustically-good shell could be built for as little as $15,000, the park planner said.

HE SUGGESTED that more parking space should be provided in the park area, that the broken suspension bridge should be moved nearer the picnic area instead of being repaired at its present site and that a proposed running track probably is not needed, since it is designed more for organized athletics than for park recreation.

Buritt told the group, "In general, I think it's a very good plan," but recommended that the plan be brought up to date.

Francis Donnon, recreation director, backed up this suggestion and asked that the National Recreation association do the revising.

Last night's was the second joint meeting of the Recreation commission and the Memorial Park association board of directors. They had met on Aug. 14 to talk over park problems, and set last night's meeting then.

The Aug. 14 session, in turn, followed a visit to Pottstown in June by Helen M. Dauncey, leadership training specialist of the National Recreation association.

Miss Dauncey criticized park planning in a talk before a local civic club.

WEATHER —

considerably now but can't disappear entirely because a gently whirling "anti-cyclone" over the northeast part of the nation keeps it local. And a hot air, high pressure ceiling keeps the smoky air from rising into the stratosphere.

So that's why yesterday's skies had the look of old-gold fish bowl water.

The weatherman put the quietus on a batch of rumors which had the cerulian sun as the product of an atomic cloud or volcanic blow-off.

Nothing close to a blue sun has been observed after any of the atomic explosions, they said.

A volcanic eruption did cause a bluish sun once, however. This was in 1883 when Krakatoa in the Dutch East Indies emitted the largest eruption of modern times.

But weather observers said that a volcanic outburst big enough to cause the recent blueness surely would have been recorded. None was.

BY-PASS URGED —

King street might be limited to one-side-only parking from Manatawny to Adams street for through-traffic convenience.

At present, parking is permitted on both sides.

Referring to traffic lights on High street, the main thoroughfare, Johnson said he thought synchronization of traffic lights advisable.

He said further that "present lights" here can be controlled by a device which is not expensive.

POLICE SCHEDULE —

have been given permanent day shift.

Councilmen reported to Griffith that the schedule had resulted in low morale because of the long-enforced night turn.

When asked how long his schedule would be given a trial, Griffith countered by saying "nothing is permanent." He indicated it would remain in effect until such time as a new schedule was devised which he, as head of the police department, approved.

BOLIVIANS HERE —

terpreter, the two men said they were impressed not only by the physical plant but also by the system of financing and record-keeping, which they studied.

In Bolivia, they will use copies of the Pottstown school's drawings for its engine lathe, a woodturning lathe, a tilting table arbor saw, a band saw and spindle sander.

Grastorf said, "Pottstown was selected because it has a school which functions well in the community, does much practical work in the shops and has close ties with industry."

They left Pottstown at 12:50 p. m. for New Hampshire. Previously, they had visited schools in Miami, Fla.; Washington, D. C., Wilmington, Del., and Philadelphia.

CHARGE U. S. SHELLING

LONDON, Sept. 27 (AP)—Communist China charged tonight that an American destroyer "shelled" one of its merchant vessels off the Shantung peninsula Sept. 21.

RURAL BLAZE —

noticed the smoke at 12:10 p. m. and hurried to awaken McDonald.

"If it hadn't been for her, I might be in the ashes too," McDonald said grimly.

RAPIDLY-SPREADING flames and the intense heat kept McDonald, his neighbors and the firemen from saving anything except the television and radio sets.

In addition to destroying all the family's furniture and personal possessions, it also ruined the oil burner and electric hot water heater in the basement, a sterling silver tableware valued at $300 and two refrigerators.

Less than a year ago, McDonald had installed new kitchen equipment, including cupboards and a sink, and all this was lost with "everything else we ever owned."

The white, frame, asbestos-shingled eight-room house had been built in two sections. McDonald's father-in-law, Gustave Witte, had built a one-story home in 1946.

Two years later, McDonald built a two-story addition, doing most of the work himself. The two houses were joined under one roof, and from the outside looked like one T-shaped building.

A CLOSE NEIGHBOR is Edward Witte, Mrs. McDonald's brother. The burned-out family moved into the Witte home temporarily. McDonald said last night he had no idea where his family would go.

Capt. Meral Cox, of the Pottstown Salvation Army, came to the family's aid immediately with clothing for both the parents and the children, as well as pots and pans and other necessary household items.

Capt. Cox said he would get furniture for the family, and would have it ready when they know where they will move.

Aid also was expected from the Spicer Employes' Aid association.

The Green Lane Fire company sent two pieces of apparatus to the blaze, driven by Kenneth S. Kleinbach and Ephraim T. Long. The Pennsburg Fire company's pumper was driven by Floyd Kline.

Of course, you want a good coat! Maybe you don't get a new one every season. So you're particular. The difference in price between a cheap coat and one of Bond's might perhaps pay for a good dinner. But Bond's dividends of long service and lasting good looks make one whale of a difference. You'll agree we haven't used "amazing prices" loosely when you see these handsome pure wool coats. Especially when you consider what's happened to wool prices. Drury Slaying Seen Gangland Move to Halt Leak to Probers

CHICAGO, Sept. 27 (AP)—Assassins got William J. Drury before he could talk.

Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn), head of a U. S. senate crime investigating committee, disclosed this today in a telegram to John S. Boyle, Cook county (Chicago) state's attorney.

Investigators looking for Drury's slayers, meanwhile, apparently couldn't find even a cold trail.

More than 40 policemen have been searching the slaying area for two days and nights. Police Capt. Patrick O'Connell, in charge of the district, said they could find no witnesses to the slaying or escape of the killers.

Drury, a former police lieutenant whose tough treatment of hoodlums gave him the nickname "Watchdog of the Loop," was killed Monday night. Slayers pumped four shotgun charges through the windshield of his car as he was parking it in his garage.

AT THE TIME, George S. Robinson, a committee attorney, was trying to contact Drury and arrange to give him protection.

Senator Kefauver told Boyle in his telegram that Drury had applied for a staff position. He added:

"When George Robinson first went to Chicago for our committee I suggested that he contact and interview Drury. We had in mind a full interview and then later calling Drury as a witness or paying him to assemble information of interest.

"I was of the impression that contact had been made and certain information furnished but learned late last night that this was not sure, that George Robinson in Chicago had called Drury house to make engagement but did not reach Drury who was to return call at 6:30 last night."

HOWEVER, KEFAUVER'S telegram said:

"Drury furnished memo on Florida crime matters to Don Petitt of the Miami Daily News, about two months ago, which informaiton was passed on to us by Petitt."

Boyle, meanwhile, questioned former Police Capt. Thomas Connelly, Drury's former partner on the police force. Boyle said there were some conflicting statements given him by Connelly and Luis Kutner, Drury's attorney.

Boyle said Connelly told him Connelly had seen Drury only twice since last January, both times by accident, and knew nothing of Drury's recent activities.

The prosecutor added that Kutner told him both Drury and Connelly met in Kutner's office Monday afternoon. Boyle added he had received several anonymous telephone calls that Connelly and Drury were together often in recent months.

Police still were seeking possible links between Drury's slaying and the assassination four hours later of Attorney Marvin J. Bas, another investigator of underworld activities.

Gov't Control Regulation Group to Meet With Builders, Lenders on Mortgage Credit

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27 (AP)—Government officials who are drafting control regulations for home mortgage credit will meet next Monday and Tuesday with representatives of lending institutions and with builders, suppliers and other trade interests.

The Federal Reserve board (FRB) is to set terms for private mortgage loans—subjecting them to federal control for the first time in history. The Federal Housing administration (FHA) and Veterans administration (VA) will fix new regulations for mortgages they insure or guarantee.

Officials of those agencies said today the meetings next week will be aimed at getting the ideas of banks and other lenders and of building industry groups on the housing situation and what terms should be set.

They insist there has been no decision yet on the controls to be fixed or on when they will be made effective. They said much will depend upon what "area of agreement" develops from next week's meetings.

Some officials added that the government agencies have reached an advanced stage in drafting proposals, and that announcement of the curbs is possible—although not yet planned—"within 10 days to two weeks."

THE TENTATIVE drafts are reported to emphasize stiffer down payments with possible new cash requirements to run as high as 50 percent on homes in top-cost brackets. The news rules will not apply, in any case, to existing homes or houses under construction under previously made financing commitments.

The National Association of Home Builders complained today that the amount of new housing available will be cut "drastically" by the stiffening of government mortgage credit terms that went into effect July 19.

The association contends these curbs alone have produced a 50 percent drop in applications for new homes at FHA and VA field offices.

The Commerce department forecast last week that the July tightening of federal mortgage terms will cut housing starts next year by about one-third from the current record level of more than 1,300,000 annually.

Looking for honest-to-goodness COMFORT?

Better Buy Buick!

You've probably heard a lot of talk about comfort in 1950 cars.

But we'd like to offer one suggestion, which is—let a Buick speak for itself.

We'd like to have you settle yourself (your family too, if you have one) on a Buick's soft, deep, comfort-angled cushions, and see how restful they are.

More than this, we'd like you to sample that comfort in motion. Slip your fingers around that slender steering wheel, touch toe to treadle and take off in the smooth, unbroken surge of power that Dynaflow Drive* delivers.

We'd like to have you hunt out some of the less-smooth streets or back roads that never seem to get fixed—and put Buick's soft coil springing and solid underpinning to tough and practical test.

All the while, be thinking about what such riding and driving ease can mean on long, all-day trips, and compare it with what you've been used to.

This whole experience is bound to make you want a Buick—and when you ask "how much" you'll get a second pleasant surprise in the low delivered prices your dealer is quoting—prices that start at a level that is actually lower than you'd pay for some sixes.

Your Buick dealer is the man to see and this is the best of all times to see him. Drop in, won't you, to see about getting an order signed?

*Standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on SUPER and SPECIAL models.

FOUR-WAY FOREFRONT—This rugged front end (1) sets the style note, (2) saves on repair costs—vertical bars are individually replaceable, (3) avoids "locking horns," (4) makes parking and garaging easier.

Delegates Named To AAA Convention

Four delegates to the national Automobile Association of America convention which opens Oct. 23 in New York city were elected at a meeting of the Pottstown Automobile club Tuesday night.

The scheduled meeting of the club was advanced one night in order to allow William F. Lamb Sr., president, and O. C. Beacraft, manager, to attend a meeting in Lancaster last night.

Lamb, Beacraft, Horace A. Hughes, assistant manager, and Jacob A. Wonderlich, field representative, were the four delegates selected to attend the three-day convention.

Some preliminary plans for the annual meeting of the club were discussed, but no action was taken. Lamb reported the origin and destination survey taken the past year is expected to be completed soon.

Repairs to roads in Chester and Montgomery counties also were discussed.

The session was held at the Pottstown Automobile clu' headquarters.

U. S. Marines hoist the American flag over the South Korean capitol in the north section of the city, the Russian and French consulates and the American ambassador's residence in the heart of Seoul. The flag over the Russian consulate later was removed.

Duk Soo palace, just west of the city's center, was at last report still occupied by Red snipers. One fired on Marines preparing to raise the American colors in the walled compound. He subsided when Marines returned the fire.

Lambert said the Reds held only small part of the city by midafternoon Wednesday.

But they were entrenched in some of the city's main business buildings. If the Reds chose to fight to the death in these buildings, Lambert said, the Western-style structures stand to take a beating of the kind that has left some of Seoul a smoking rubble.

The leathernecks and the foot soldiers slogging through Seoul had to dig Reds out of foxholes, street fortifications, dark alleys, and mud huts, as well as from modern concrete buildings.

Fog Is Responsible For 2-Car Crash

Heavy fog yesterday morning was blamed for a minor accident at South Hanover and Queen streets.

Paul W. Sheeler, Boyertown RD 2, said he was driving north on Hanover street at 7:15 o'clock, and as he reached to put on parking lights to pierce the gloom, he saw the car ahead had stopped.

Sheeler was unable to avoid hitting the rear of the sedan driven by Earl L. Wieand, Allentown. Damage was slight. Both drivers reported the mishap to police at borough hall.

The car of Joseph Durco, 29, Perkiomenville RD 1, was damaged by a hit-run driver on Route 563 in Salford township Tuesday night, Collegeville State police reported yesterday.

He was going south on the highway. The hit-run car was northbound. It damaged his left rear fender. Durco did not get the license number.

NORCO EXHIBITS —

rows of eared corn, giant red beets as large as cauliflower and sunflower heads 16 inches across.

In one corner of the room was an overflowing bushel basket of perfect red apples, eventually won by Alice May Bauman, the show's grand prize winner.

THE HOME ECONOMICS room had a homier atmosphere, possibly because of the two long tables bearing vases of cut flowers.

Also laid out were an assortment of wax-paper-covered cakes and pies, jars of golden and deep red jellies, bottles of fruit and pickles and a rack of home-made dresses.

The department's judge, Mrs. Eleanor Barr, Pottstown RD 1, former home economics teacher in Oxford, Chester county, had the responsibility of tasting most of the edible entries to determine their worth. The only class forbidden to her was the pickles.

Miss Bauman, in addition to winning the bushel of apples, received the Norco home economics girls' prize of $5 for being the member of that group to get most points.

Lowell Stephens took a similar $5 award for being the FFA member with the highest number of points in the farm division.

No prize went to Anna Bertolet. But, with 66 points, she was the adult with the most points in the show.

Freight Traffic to Berlin Hindered by Red Guards

HELMSTEDT, Germany, Sept. 27 (AP)—An East German Communist slowdown on Berlin-bound freight traffic forced 160 trucks to line up at this Soviet zone border checkpoint tonight, West German police reported.

After lengthy inspection of their loads by Communist frontier guards, trucks are checked through at the rate of two or three an hour, police said. Normal pace is 12 vehicles an hour. No explanation for the tightening of controls was given, police said.

Mother Admits She Slew Her 3 Children

FOSSIL, Ore., Sept. 27 (AP) — A 23-year-old mother has admitted slaying her three children over a 20-month peroid, District Attorney George Dukek said today.

He identified the mother as Mrs. Juanita Louise Carr, wife of George Carr, a sawmill worker at Mitchell, Ore.

The district attorney said that Mrs. Carr, questioned in the death of her 35-month-old daughter, Patricia, told him:

She smothered the child in its crib Sept. 15.

She smothered a son, Gary, 2 month old, last Jan. 27.

She dropped another son, Donald, 3 months old, from the family automobile Jan. 15, 1949.

Mrs. Carr was arrested at her home by Malcom Keys, Wheeler county sheriff, Louis Olson, State police sergeant, and Ralph Pope, State policeman. No charges have been filed.

She was unable to give a reason for her actions, Dukek said.

Men and institutions are tested by time. Only those who make a significant contribution to the general community survive. You will excuse us, we hope, if we exhibit an unashamed pride in our Pottstown community and in our one hundred years as an important part of Pottstown.

Samuel M. Bunting, founder of Bunting's started his business career as a hatmaker. He worked side by side with John B. Stetson, learning the trade, and Bunting's is now the oldest Stetson account. Bunting's is also one of the oldest accounts of Cluett, Peabody & Co., Inc., makers of Arrow men's wear.

We have seen Pottstown grow from a population of 1664 souls to the present city of 22,598. We have been through four wars, a great flood and a world-wide depression. Merely to survive taxed the energies of men in those troubled times. To survive and grow is proof of the confidence of our thousands of friends.

Your confidence is our most valuable asset.

We will continue to merit that confidence by the continued observance of the important business fundamentals that inspired it:

An honest policy without compromise. A determination to give first consideration to the customer. Truth in advertising. Continued presentation of the finest nationally advertised merchandise.

Huge Armament Bill Signed by Truman; Soviet Check Is Aim

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27 (AP)—The $17,099,902,285 appropriation to speed rearming of America and its friends became law today with President Truman's signature.

The aim of the measure is to get a running start on the job of making the free world too tough for Russia to tackle.

Among other items it provides $4,000,000,000 for foreign arms aid and $11,000,000,000 directly for U. S. forces. A big slice goes to buy 5333 new warplanes.

It raises to about $35,000,000,000 the defense-connected appropriations made by the Congress which has just gone on vacation. And it boosts to about $60,000,000,000 the cash that Congress provided for all government purposes for the present fiscal year.

* * *

MR. TRUMAN signed the emergency measure without ceremony at 10:20 a. m., Pottstown time in his office, four days after it reached his desk in practically the form he proposed.

The bill includes a mild ban on economic aid to nations trading in strategic items with iron curtain countries, but the President indicated no objection to it.

In the closing days of the Congress session he had made a written plea to the chairmen of the appropriations committees, which resulted in softening of a much stiffer provision written in by the Senate. That section would have barred Marshall Plan help to any nation exporting to the Soviet bloc any items which could be used for military purposes.

Likely Pact Chief

American wishes for a U. S. army officer as chief of staff of the Atlantic Pact forces is expected to result in assignment of Lt. Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther to the post. The plan for headquarters in Europe, as well as Gruenther's appointment, is reportedly approved by General Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Man Gets Wood Ducks, Pays for Them Later

PEKIN, Ill., Sept. 27 (AP)—George Spearman, Pekin hunter, slipped out recently and bagged three wood ducks.

He tucked them into his hunting coat, and gun in hand, walked to the highway to thumb a ride. A passing motorist picked him up. The motorist dropped a badge into Spearman's lap. It read "United States Department of Conservation."

Spearman pleaded guilty to a State charge of shooting ducks out of season and was fined $300 and costs.

Whale of Tale Told By Couple in Plane

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, Sept. 27 (AP)—It was a whale of a tale Mat Brown brought back from St. Lawrence island in the Bering sea.

Brown and his wife were returning to Nome after working at the island for the Summer. They spotted a whale from the air and landed their boat plane on the water close enough to get some good pictures.

Suddenly they felt a movement on the other side of the plane. It was another whale.

Brown slowly taxied the aircraft between the two and hit the air just as the second whale flipped its tail.

When they again glanced back from a cozy height the Browns discovered they had been sitting right in the middle of a large and active school of whales.

ATOMIC ATTACK IS POSSIBILITY, MARSHALL SAYS

Red Cross Head Reveals First-Aid Training Plans For 20 Million in U. S.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 27 (AP)—Secretary of Defense Marshall said tonight the nation is going through a time of "great peril" and warned that it would be "folly" to discount the possibility of atomic attack.

Speaking as president of the American Red Cross, Marshall announced that the Red Cross has accepted an Administration request to take the lead in training as many as 20,000,000 Americans in first-aid technique.

He called for hundreds of thousands of Red Cross volunteers and declared that part of their task will be to build up motor and canteen services "in preparation for any sudden emergency which might require large-scale movements of people on short notice."

Volunteers will also aid in the Red Cross blood program, Marshall said. He emphasized that blood and blood derivatives are essential "in cases of shock and burns" and are "the only known treatment for radiation sickness."

In another step, he said, the Red Cross will "greatly expand" its nursing service and expects to train at least 100,000 women as nurses aides.

ADDRESSING a meeting of Red Cross volunteers, Marshall said:

"We face a gruelling period of hard work, self-denial, and danger. I ask you to bear in mind that if the fighting in Korea should cease tomorrow, our increased responsibility would still be with us.

"The nation has been alerted and common prudence dictates that we must remain on the alert for some time to come."

Marshall disclosed that on Sept. 6 he received a letter from Chairman W. Stuart Symington of the National Security Resources board asking the Red Cross "to prepare for a possibly critical shortage of nursing and hospital services."

The five-star general went on to say:

"In one important respect, the present emergency is unlike any other which the American people have faced.

"Today we live in the era of the guided missile, the atomic bomb, the long-range planes and submarines capable of delivering attacks far from their home bases. In the light of recent experience, it would be folly for this country to assume that it will remain forever free from such dangers."

11 Top Commies File Supreme Court Plea

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27 (AP)—Eleven Communist leaders convicted of conspiring to advocate violent overthrow of the U. S. Government today filed an appeal in the Supreme court.

"There is no testimony in the record in this case," their appeal stated, "that during the entire period of the indictment any of the eleven personally taught or advocated that the government of the United States be overthrown by force and violence."

The 11 were convicted last Oct. 14 after a prolonged and stormy trial before U. S. District Judge Harold R. Medina in New York. The U. S. Circuit court in New York unanimously upheld the convictions on Aug. 1.

Justice Jackson of the Supreme court last Monday ordered bail continued pending the high tribunal's final action on the appeal filed today. The Justice department had asked that they be jailed on the ground that freedom for them is a security risk.

MacArthur Given Approval To Cross 38th If Needed

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27 (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur has been authorized to send United Nations troops into North Korea if necessary as a military measure to destroy the power of the fleeing North Korean army.

This was reported today by responsible informants who said however that the longer range political question of establishing order in North Korea and occupying that area of the peninsula must be decided by the United Nations.

Thus the issue of "crossing the 38th parallel," as it is usually described, has been divided into two parts.

On the one hand is the necessity of defeating the Communist forces finally and completely. On the other, is the question of long term occupation policy.

The decision attributed to military necessity was presumably approved by President Truman and reviewed by Secretary of State Acheson with the foreign policy chiefs of friendly governments at United Nations headquarters in New York.

According to this decision, authorities here said, MacArthur has the power to take whatever action may be needed to break up the Communist army. That, it was said, probably means sending troops across the 38th parallel in pursuit of Communist forces because otherwise all the North Korean divisions able to escape from the south would find refuge behind the parallel, regroup and again be in position to disturb the peace.

This decision, it was said, is based on a United Nations Security council resolution adopted June 27 which called on member nations to furnish assistance to South Korea "to repel the armed attack (of the North Koreans) and to restore international peace and security in the area."

The basic idea underlying the current decision is that the restoration of "international peace and security in the area" is an objective which covers crossing the 38th parallel for purely military purposes.

As for the long range question of what to do about North Korea—whether to create a U.N. commission to unify the country and hold elections—that is regarded as a matter on which more time can be taken without prejudicing the chances of a complete U.N. victory.

Boy's Bound Body Discovered in Ice Box

TAMPA, Fla., Sept. 27 (AP)—The body of a nine-year-old boy, bound and gagged and partially decomposed, was found today in an unused ice box in his mother's tavern.

The boy, Bobby Tipp, had been reported missing Monday. His mother, Mrs. Lois M. Tipp, a 39-year-old red-haired divorcee, is being held without charge for questioning.

Two .32-caliber bullets were found in the boy's head.

Mrs. Tipp tore her hair and hysterically denied any knowledge of how her son died. She said she found the body about 6 a. m. today. Seepage from the rapidly decomposing body was flowing under the ice box door.

Mrs. Tipp told the Tampa Times Monday her son and about $2000 were missing. She told the newspaper she surmised Bobby had surprised a burglar and was kidnaped.

Chief criminal deputy Ernest Culbreath said Mrs. Tipp never reported her son's disappearance to police.

Ground Attack Stalls, So Woman Tries Air

TULSA, Okla., Sept. 27 (AP)—Irked because heavy traffic wouldn't let her by, Mrs. Jack Corley took to the air over a busy suburban thoroughfare today.

She asked a crane operator on a construction project to hoist her over.

He obliged, swinging Mrs. Corley and her market basket on the end of his cable, high above the passing cars, gently letting her down on the other side.

It's Effective in Stripping Away Deceit

Stripped of clothing so they cannot conceal weapons about their persons, a batch of North Korean prisoners is guarded by an American soldier at Inchon.

Enemy Vanishes; Army Puzzled

WITH THE U. S. EIGHTH ARMY IN KOREA, Sept. 27 (AP)—U. S. Eighth Army strategists, with victory within their grasp, today tackled a major puzzle: Where has that big North Korean army gone?

They estimated 110,000 North Koreans in 13 divisions ringed the old southeast beachhead two weeks ago. That was just before disaster overtook the enemy with the Inchon landings and the beachhead breakouts.

Now, with the Seoul and southeast beachhead forces joined across the waist of South Korea, best information here is that at most 50,000 but probably not more than 40,000 Communist troops have been cut off in the south.

To be sure, enemy battle casualties were heavy. Some enemy forces from the southeast slipped north, but there was no large-scale movement noted by air observers along the roads.

Many North Koreans undoubtedly have slipped into civilian clothes and headed back toward home.

But all these hardly add up to 70,000 men in the opinion of Army strategists.

THEY KNOW THAT only five Red divisions now are in contact with United Nations forces along the old southeast front. Most of these divisions are under strength.

There are eight divisions to account for, some of them good ones and well equipped. Best available sources here say frankly they don't know where the enemy has gone.

In the last 12 days U.N. forces advanced from 30 to 115 miles all along the southeastern front. in the western sector the Reds have fought a skillful delaying action. Americans of the 24th and 25th divisions have paid dearly for every mile of their advance.

On the northern line of the front, however, the First Cavalry division and South Korean forces are having trouble keeping up with retreating Reds.

Indeed, the First cavalry's hookup with the Seventh division south of Seoul Tuesday night was possible only because the North Koreans did not strongly oppose the American spearhead.

It has been the same all along the South Korean sector except on the east coast.

CANADA ENVOY DEMANDS TOTAL RED SURRENDER

U. N. Delegate Urges Free, United Korea Minus Outside Interference

NEW YORK, Sept. 27 (AP)—Canada's Lester B. Pearson demanded today that the North Korean aggressors cease fire immediately and admit defeat to the United Nations forces. He called for a united Korea free of subversive Communist elements directed from outside Korea.

Pearson, who is minister for external affairs, sounded his call as rumors flooded the U.N. assembly that the Communist North Koreans had offered to call off the war immediately. There was no confirmation and a Soviet delegate, Deputy Foreign Minister Jacob A. Malik, said he knew nothing of the rumors.

"It is our hope," Pearson said to the U. N. assembly, "that the people of North Korea, having been forced into a perilous and disastrous venture by their Communist rulers, will now themselves repudiate these rulers and cooperate with the United Nations in bringing to Korea the freedom and unity which its people desire. This is the time for the aggressors to cease fire, to admit defeat.

"If they do, it may not be necessary for United Nations forces in Korean territory to advance far beyond their present positions. The United Nations must, however, leave its forces free to do what is practicable to make certain that the Communist aggressors of North Korea are not permitted to re-establish some new base in the peninsula from which they could sally forth again upon a peaceful people."

THE GENERAL OPINION in the assembly is that the U.N. forces can go beyond the 38th parallel dividing North and South Korea but that the assembly must settle the political questions after the fighting ends.

This feeling found agreement in Washington, where responsible informants said General Douglas MacArthur, United Nations commander, has been authorized to send U.N. troops into North Korea above the 38th parallel if necessary as a military measure to destroy the fleeing North Korean army.

Pearson proposed a program for Korea's future. He called for a united and free Korea; for the U.N. to assist the people of Korea to establish peace and order.

Eight Face Re-Arrest In Brassiere Thefts

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 27 (AP)—Justice as elastic as the items in which they carried their loot snapped back today on members of Miami's "brassiere brigade."

Legal haymakers came from two quarters—and not the silver kind the women orally admitted taking out of the telephone company counting room stuffed in their underclothes.

From the office of the county solicitor came orders to re-arrest eight of them, including six women and the husbands of two of them. The telephone company signed complaints.

From Circuit Judge George E. Holt, who had freed them all yesterday while the phone company hesitated over signing a complaint, came an order impounding all money, automobiles and all other property of 11 persons allegedly involved in the case. This included $10,000 now in police hands.

The order directs that no assets may be "concealed or destroyed" until it is determined how much of it belongs to the phone company.

IN THE ORAL confessions, later repudiated and never signed, the girls admitted that some of the estimated $100,000 they toted out of the company in their brassieres went for automobiles, payments on houses and for bonds.

Assistant County Solicitor Michael F. Zarowny said the re-arrests were made possible after the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph company audited long distance toll records flown here from the Jacksonville office and determined "definite shortages during definite months."

Those named in the original re-arrest order were:

Marie Orr, 21; her mother, Mrs. Gladys Orr, 47; Mrs. Bonnie Jean Hebert, 22; her husband, Lawrence, 23; Mrs. Betty Corrigan, 23; her husband, William Edward Corrigan, 24; Mrs. Billy Ruth McNabb, 27, and Mrs. Rita Orr, 18.

The husbands and Mrs. Gladys Orr are charged with receiving stolen property. Mrs. McNabb is named as "principal in the second degree" and the others are charged with grand larceny.

Senate Group to Probe Mafia in Kansas City

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 27 (AP)—The Senate crime investigating committee gave indications tonight that it intends to take a look at what part, if any, the Mafia plays in Kansas City politics.

The committee, headed by Senator Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn), opens a three-day public hearing here tomorrow. Its witness list includes the names of several persons who have been linked with the mysterious secret Sicilian organization.

Walter S. Gifford, Ex-War Aide, Named London Ambassador

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27 (AP)—Walter S. Gifford, former chairman of the board of American Telephone and Telegraph company and a government adviser in two world wars, was named ambassador to London today.

Walter S. Gifford

His selection was announced by the White House immediately after receipt of British approval, a customary diplomatic step.

Gifford succeeds Lewis W. Douglas whose resignation was announced yesterday, effective Nov. 1.

The new ambassador, 65 years old, is an active Republican.

His assignment to the London post, in many respects the most important one abroad in U. S. diplomatic service, is relied on in some administration quarters to add strength to bi-partisan foreign policy.

Gifford, in New York, said in a statement after the White House announcement:

"I am very happy for the opportunity which the appointment to the office gives me to be of service in these critical times. I shall do my utmost to live up to the high standards of my distinguished predecessor."

HIS NOMINATION will go before the Senate for confirmation after Congress returns on Nov. 27 from its campaign recess. In the meantime he can serve under a recess appointment.

The London embassy is a vital post not only because of the importance of U. S.-British relations, but also because it usually serves as a coordination or clearing point for much of this country's dealings with Europe.

Douglas has been ambassador there since March, 1947. His health has not been robust, particularly since a fishing accident more than a year ago in which a fish hook was caught in his eye.

The Pottstown Teachers association approved a budget of $2844 for 1950-51 at their meeting yesterday afternoon in the Senior High school study hall.

One hundred teachers voted on the budget during the half-hour meeting.

Marion R. Giles, Rupert school teacher, was elected delegate to the Department of Classroom Teachers conference in Bedford Springs, Oct. 20-21.

The group voted to send the 8-person cabinet (similar to an executive board) to a meeting of the Norristown Teachers association on Oct. 31, to hear Corma Mowrey, president of the National Education association, speak.

Other teachers also expressed their desire to attend the meeting.

Miriam V. Ludwig, president of the Pottstown Teachers association reported that "No one said a word" about the borough school board's ruling to terminate the services of teachers who have reached the age of 62.

Red Germans Offer Bonuses for Babies

BERLIN, Sept. 27 (AP)—East Germany's Communist government today offered bonuses for more babies, to build up the Soviet zone's waning population.

The bonus system—similar to the scheme used by Hitler—was included in a new law giving women equal political and economic rights with men, offering protection to mothers and children and tightening restrictions on abortions. The law was passed unanimously.

Communist Prime Minister Otto Grotewohl, speaking for the law, demanded more babies as "proof of the optimistic spirit prevailing in the East German Democratic republic." The East zone has a population of about 18,000,000 compared with 45,000,000 in the West zones.

World production of oil now has surpassed more than nine million barrels a day.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27 (AP)—An Air Force spokesman said today the first enemy planes reported in Korea "in some time" appeared in the skies yesterday.

He told reporters that four planes resembling old U. S. P39 fighters approached a B29 superfortress. He said the fighters turned away without trying to fire on the American plane.

This occurred over Central North Korea near the 38th parallel.

Dr. Meck Stresses Revival of Loyalty To Important Things

The need for a revival of loyalty to the things that matter most was stressed by Dr. Allan S. Meck, president of the Lancaster Theological seminary of the Evangelical and Reformed church, last night.

Speaking at the second of four sermons in Trinity Reformed church, Dr. Meck declared:

"Loyalty is that plus which makes a man."

He pointed out the Christian church is emphasizing a spiritual awakening, a moral renewal and an ethical revival.

"The church has the best news in all the world," he asserted, "but too often it does not get it across to the people who need it."

Sometimes, he opined, the laity feels "the Christian religion is in the hands of men whose minds are too small to handle it."

"DO WE IN the pulpit and in the pews impress people with the fact that there is something lacking inside?" Dr. Meck asked. "Do we have a radiant experience of Jesus Christ?

"Do we have power independent of our own wills; a joy independent of our own health; a peace independent of our own money, and a love transcending all color and class?"

He pleaded for a revival in loyalty to Jesus Christ, to the Christian church and to witnessing and worship.

Closing his plea for a revival of loyalty, Dr. Meck affirmed:

"Loyalty to Jesus Christ is the queen in the home, the king of morals, the charm of children, the winsomeness of old age, the peace of lovers, the nobility of a gentleman, the power of statesmen and the stability of government."

* * *

MUSIC FOR THE service was provided by the senior choir and Mrs. Norman G. Lepperd, minister of music. The Rev. John B. Frantz, pastor, sang "O Divine Redeemer," by Gounod.

Tonight, Dr. Meck will speak on "Christ's Incredible Faith in Us."

The six-day "preaching mission" will conclude tomorrow night with a preparatory service for the Holy Communion which will be administered at three services Sunday in observance of World Communion Sunday.

Austrian Reds End Strike; Halt Hinted Aimed at Gov't Fall

VIENNA, Austria, Sept. 27 (AP)—Socialist party headquarters announced tonight that Austrian Communists had decided to call off their strike after two days of widespread disturbances and sporadic interruptions of rail traffic.

The strikes, affecting three of the occupation zones, had been called to protest a government wage and price increase but were widely interpreted as Russian-backed efforts to split off the government's Socialist support and bring its downfall.

Communists at Linz who seized the Chamber of Labor in a series of scuffles and proclaimed a rump "provisional local executive" in that large industrial city in the American zone, left the building quietly tonight.

It was believed the demonstrators had received word of the Communist decision in Vienna to return to work tomorrow.

SOCIALISTS SAID 170 Communist shop stewards at the Vienna meeting decided their strike had been a failure.

However, other Communists at Linz seized the railway station and delayed two express trains to Vienna for three hours tonight. One was carrying the new civilian French high commissioner for Austria.

Like Berlin, Vienna is partitioned into occupation sectors by the big powers and is 90 miles behind the iron curtain in the Soviet zone.

Austria's government is a coalition of the Rightist Peoples (Catholic) party, Socialists and independents. Communists got only about 5 percent of the vote in the last election.

Police occupied the Linz radio station when Communists there threatened to take it over, too, but there was no report of any action by U. S. troops.

Gov't Move Is Seen To Rescind Curbs on Cotton Production

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27 (AP)—The government is expected to lift all restrictions on the production of cotton next year in a move to refill nearly empty warehouses.

Agriculture department officials have decided that there will be no marketing quotas on the 1951 crop and they lean heavily toward grower proposals that acreage planting allotments also be dropped.

Formal announcement of next year's cut in program may be made in a day or so.

This year's crop was produced under rigid marketing quotas and acreage allotments. Under these controls, farmers producing more than their alloted shares were subject to heavy marketing penalties and loss of government price support aid.

The crop turned out to be much smaller than the government had planned. As a consequence, supplies are tight. Limits are being placed on export, but there still may be a shortage of some grades before the 1951 crop is harvested.

A YEAR AGO there was a threat of a topheavy surplus. The government had upwards of $1,000,000,000 invested in extra supplies stored under price supports.

But more cotton has been used than had been expected, and this year's crop is less than 10,000,000 bales compared with 16,128,000 last year and the government's goal of about 11,750,000 bales.

This year's planting allotment was about 21,500,000 bales. Suggestions have been made that the government retain acreage allotment for 1951 but raise them to 27,000,000 acres or more.

Top ranking Agriculture department officials, including Secretary Brannan, have been described as opposing allotments. It is said they believe it would be difficult to justify any such limits no matter how high they might be set, in the face of the short supply and the possible need for more cotton under the defense program.

CUTTING OUT allotments would broaden the government responsibility, however, under the price support program. The government is required by law to support cotton next year at prices between 80 and 90 percent of parity. Heretofore, price support has been limited to those farmers complying with allotments.

If no allotments are made, all growers would be eligible.

At present, prices are far above price support levels and cotton is moving out from under price support storage. But an unduly large crop next year could well pull prices down to support levels and lead farmers to put a lot of it back under government loans.

Discontinuance of allotments could be expected, officials said, to encourage greater expansion in cotton production in the Mississippi Delta region, Texas, Oklahoma and other western areas.

PHOENIXVILLE —

and civilian staff, Phoenixville itself is presented with the problem—again—of housing.

PRIOR TO THE hospital's closing, many of its military personnel, both officer and enlisted, had obtained apartments, suites of rooms, or had bought houses. When the place all but closed down, they were surrendered or sold.

Today, according to Joseph E. Galligan, executive secretary of the Phoenixville Chamber of Commerce and former Pottstonian, "there is not a single house or apartment empty in the community."

Since the Army all but withdrew from the town, an industrial expansion has taken place. Upwards of 600 new employes have been hired by town industries or those on its outskirts. In addition, 136 families, who never before lived in Phoenixville have purchased homes there from new developments.

Native families, formerly doubled or tripled-up because the Army and its civilian employes had occupied much of the available housing, have now thinned out and moved into quarters for themselves.

* * *

WHAT WILL HAPPEN IN Phoenixville when military doctors, other administrative officers, and upper grade enlisted men seek quarters for their families; and where families visiting the patients fresh from overseas will find a roof is the No. 1 question.

Consequently, Galligan and Col. Dreisbach admitted independently tonight that the situation may create a grave morale problem.

(Shortly before it was ordered closed, Valley Forge had been earmarked for 90-garden type apartments on the military reservation. These, however, never were constructed.)

"We're going to have to do something," Galligan assured. "But I don't know what."

As an initial move, a meeting will be called shortly of the Chamber's executive committee to establish a plan to co-operate with the Army.

Galligan also suggested that the community may take some step in forming a local service club for the benefit of the patients and duty personnel. Space, he said, is available.

"We always managed to pull through before," he said, "and I guess we'll pull through again."

* * *

MEANWHILE, AT THE hospital itself, the skeleton staff was preparing for the reopening target date.

A meeting of key officers, noncoms and civilians was held with Col. Dreisbach, functioning as commander in the absence of Col. John Welsh.

Six wards will be readied immediately, with others to be set up in the next few days.

Telephone calls began going out for former civilian workers, mostly for ward and mess attendants. How the Army will apportion its personnel strength between military and civilian has not been made clear, the deputy commander said.

The principal concern at the present, he said, was the availability of doctors.

"Give us a staff," he remarked, "and we'll be ready to receive patients tomorrow."

Everything is in order, Col. Dreisbach disclosed, even to the books in the hospital library.

* * *

"ALL WE NEED TO do is dust the beds and put linen on them and we'll be set," he concluded.

Outside painting is being done on many buildings and the repair of 12,000 window screens is all but completed. The hospital, according to Second Army engineers, is in excellent condition.

Tire Rubber Economy

Never Possible Before

Into the national achievement record has gone this phenomenal tire rubber economy—never known or possible before!

Not an ounce of wasted rubber yet each tire can give every owner years, instead of miles, of safety and service—his one tire investment for years to come.

With local communities solidly backed by extensive dealer investments in service and maintenance equipment, all of the original safety mileage of these unique tires is continuously renewed and renewable—when other tires are giving up their lives.

They are tires that work and serve at the very heart and core of the national economy in normal times, and in every possible rubber emergency.

They have set up entirely new standards of safety and mileage by which other tires are now being judged and measured, everywhere in the United States.

Whether with black, or with whitewalls, they provide their exclusive Protective Curbguard, their new Royaltex Tread and Traction, and they deliver up to 60% more safe mileage.

They have resulted from many years of continuous research, experience and U. S. Rubber investment. They are the only such tires in the world, priced as low as life and safety permit.

They are the tires that now roll and serve with the nation, with tire rubber economy never known before, remaining fresh and new in safety when other tires are giving up their lives.

Religious Education For Grade Students To Begin Thursday

Released time religious education will begin next Thursday at 2:15 o'clock in Spring City churches.

The public school will release from their classes all boys and girls of the Fourth, Fifth and Sixth grades who have secured their parents' consent.

All parents of these children have been requested by their pastors to sign the release forms, which the children have brought home from school. The signed forms are to be returned to the teachers in the public school.

The past year 80 percent of the pupils in these grades attended the religious education classes. It was felt this instruction is well worthwhile and merits the support of all parents.

The Mennonite Brethren in Christ, Lutheran, Evangelical and Reformed and Methodist churches will conduct the classes in their respective churches.

Truck Driver Hurt As Auto Is Rammed

With a loud crash which startled the neighborhood, a moving truck hit a parked sedan in the 300 block, Walnut street, Royersford, at 5:40 o'clock yesterday morning, turned over, injured the truck driver slightly and damaged both vehicles.

The truck driver, Charles P. Hoffman, 538 North Second street, Allentown, apparently dosed at the wheel, according to police, while traveling west on Walnut street, midway between Fourth and Third avenue.

A sedan owned by Chris S. Wright Jr., 345 Walnut street, parked opposite his home and facing east, was struck in the front end as the truck veered off its course.

The impact mashed the sedan's left front fender, broke a headlight and bent an axle, causing a total estimated damage of $183. Damage to the truck, estimated at $100, was to the left front fender and headlights.

Hoffman complained of injuries to his chest and cut his left thumb. A truck towed both vehicles away.

First Woman Employment Director in State Lends Vivaciousness to Hurculean Job

By FRANCES WROBEL
(Mercury Society Editor)

It's pretty much of a woman's business world these days and there's no reason why we gals shouldn't radiate in its golden light.

Woman after many centuries of rocking the cradle has finally shifted her weight, foresight, and capability into civic and world affairs and shouldered a few responsibilities. Today she commands a wide range of respect which goes outside the family circle and into the community, state, or country which she serves.

Capably holding the leading reins of a momentous position right in our own community is slightly built, complacent, Catharine A. Coyne, who sits behind the door marked "Director" at the Pennsylvania State Employment service office.

The first woman in the State to hold this important position, Miss Coyne enthusiastically chats about the job she has held for 12 years, or, since the opening of the Pottstown office.

Business for the branch here began in the Elks' home in January, 1938. Eight months later the vivacious Miss Coyne was transferred from the Philadelphia office (she spent most of her life in Conshohocken) where she had been promoted to administrative assistant, to Pottstown where she has found "a warm and gratulant public to work with."

There are 14 members on Miss Coyne's staff. They are divided into two groups, employment and the unemployment compensation sections. Each group is directed by a supervisor. The director's reign extends over the western half of Montgomery county as the Pottstown office serves an area up to the Perkiomen creek, excluding Collegeville and Trappe and as far as Spring City, Chester county and Bally.

Being top woman in the employment service has plenty to it. The job is as varied as it is interesting with a multitude of phases. Essentially it is "matching the worker to the job," according to Miss Coyne, which is no simple matter.

In the unemployment phase of the bureau there are the problems of the handicapped, veterans, high school seniors, those drawing compensation and the undecided worker who cannot find his place in the working world.

The program for the handicapped, of course supersedes all others and these jobs seekers are given preference in placement. The veterans are a secondary consideration and other applicants follow.

The problem of the high school graduates, who posed a minor unemployment problem, was recently nipped a bit. This was due to the aptitude tests which were given to Seniors who were uncertain as to what jobs to look for. The test proved very successful in alleviating the number of unemployed graduates.

For others inert in mind as to a job the same aptitude, or Battery test, is given to determine what the worker is best qualified to do.

These tests are conducted on the premises in the second floor in rooms set aside for that purpose and clerks then place the workers in their proper categories.

The job is tremendous on the right hand side of the office but would hardly be effective without its helping group which works with employers, who are contacted and their needs recorded.

One of the most important facets of this side of the employment job, which Miss Coyne sees to, is the factory tests that are conducted. If an employer has a job available which does not fall into any bureau classification the local director makes a contact with the central Washington bureau. Analysis experts then are sent here and special tests are worked out which show the qualifications necessary for that particular job. Then the job receives a code or classification.

With an obvious blue-eyed determination Miss Coyne find that there are many ways to answer the employment problem.

If an applicant can't be placed locally there is the "clearance" method. Meaning, that the director will work through the offices in the clearance area (Norristown, Coatesville, Philadelphia, Allentown, Bethlehem, Easton, Hatboro or Bristol) in an endeavor to place the job seekers.

It's a far reaching job that Miss Coyne has, requiring strategy, diplomacy and the know what to do when for the greatest number of people. But there's a great compensation, according to the lady, smart in her blue and grey suit who smiles affably, to feel that you're helping some one.

Helping people has somehow always been the goal of this zealous lady who first took her place in society as a registered nurse. Ever since she was a teen-ager in Conshohocken, Miss Coyne aspired to be a nurse, even trying to transcend the age barriers when she was 16, two years too young, to go into training.

When she became of age she spent three years at the Misericordia hospital, Philadelphia, graduated, and soon became the supervisor of the accident room.

She later transferred to the St. Vincent hospital in New York, where she had to take another state examination, so that she could be near a sister that was ill. Caring for the sick was to have been Miss Coyne's vocation but the trend of events decreed otherwise.

When her mother, who was back in Conshohocken, became ill, Miss Coyne returned to that town to be within reach. It was then that she decided to give up nursing because her hospital hours were such that she couldn't be at her mother's call.

The registered nurse turned in her cap for a shorthand book and typewriter and accepted a career which has proven very satisfying and rewarding as well. She began her early career in the one and only Philadelphia State Employment office, before the field began to boom, and grew along with the bureau which has expanded considerably.

Although she still keeps her state registration card active and avidly reads the Journal of Nursing, the effervescent Catharine Coyne is all for her position. She's definitely here to stay for as far as the town is concerned, it's the best she's known and as for the folks—well "they're just grand!"

Next time you make a cake with a packaged mix frost it with an orange-coconut concoction. Just cream three tablespoons of butter or margarine with two cups of confectioners sugar and thin with a quarter cup of orange juice until it is smooth. Beat in a quarter cup of shredded coconut before spreading on the cake. This makes about one-and-one-half cups of frosting.

For a different fruit salad dressing add a quarter cup of dark molasses and two tablespoons of lemon juice to a cup of mayonnaise; mix well.

Mr. Francis Donnon Talks on Recreation To BPW Club Group

Mr. Francis Donnon, Pottstown recreation director, spoke on "The Needs of Recreation in Pottstown" Tuesday night in the Clover Leaf restaurant before members of the Pottstown Business and Professional Women's club.

He defined recreation as a leisure activity engaged in for its own sake. In tracing the history and growth of the recreation program in Pottstown from its inception in June, 1939, he reported that ball leagues, playgrounds, Bethany Recreation center, bowling, dances for teenagers, Hallowe'en parades, and many other activities for children have been organized.

Mr. Donnon pointed out that in addition to funds received through taxes, many organizations in the town have contributed to make the entire recreation program possible.

The latest activity to be organized is the Golden Age club, which is assisted by the BPW club. Mr. Donnon stressed the necessity for more activities for women, the necessity for a 'teen-age center, a year-'round program for the entire family, lighted multiple play areas and a city park.

He showed photographs of the activities. Mrs. Anne Boyer, program co-ordinator, introduced the speaker.

Miss Dorothy Barkel, president, presided at the business meeting. The tables were decorated with fresh flowers and ivy. Mrs. Bertha Marraffie led in group singing and Miss Dorothy Sutton accompanied on the piano.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

THE ingenuity of the American business man cannot be exaggerated. One young man, for instance, approached Bernard Baruch with the idea of opening a brokerage office in the Empire State Building, with part of the office in the lobby and the other part on the 100th floor. He explained: "With this set-up, a customer can put in an order to buy a stock in the lobby, then take the elevator and sell on the 100th floor. This will assure him of getting in at the bottom and selling out near the top."

Another bright young man suggested a new sales service that would equip all private cars in Scotland with taxicab meters, thereby enabling the owners to watch the meters mount up and enjoy the thought of how much money they are continuously saving.

I don't say these ideas have been adopted; I merely claim they are ingenious.

Tickle Your Funnybone

Mary brought home her report card with A in everything but deportment, and that, apparently, was very bad.

"But what do you do?" demanded her mother. Mary admitted that she and the little girl at the next whispered at lot.

"Then," said her mother, "I should think your teacher would move your seat."

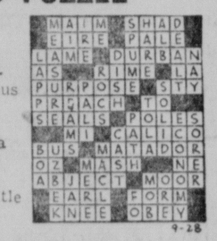

"Oh, she can't," said Mary. "The desks are glued down." — Eleanor Clarage in Coronet.

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Baseball "Big Names" Laud Legion Eastern Champions

The George A. Amole Legion post staged a banquet as smooth as the Legion Junior team it was honoring for more than 100 persons last night at the Elks lodge.

The affair boasted everything from a fine turkey dinner, through exceptionally entertaining talks, to dozens of trophies and presents for the Juniors.

Probably the highest light in the evening of highlights was the talk of Ira Thomas, onetime Philadelphia Athletics great and now a scout for the Macks.

Thomas, capably handling the main attraction spot, spoke explosively and without inhibitions, telling of the Athletics 1950 plight, the greatness of Connie Mack and the reverence with which the Grand Old Man regards the game he helped make the nation's national pastime.

Tall, gray-thatched Thomas had the house rocking with laughter when he reeled off a series of amusing tales of yesteryear's baseball.

Sample:

"We were playing Detroit at Shibe Park and the fans were howling for Ty Cobb's blood. Cobb had cut up one of the Athletics in a series at Detroit.

"Every time he came up Cobb dropped a hit into outfield, and when he was on base, he proceeded to steal everything in sight. Why, I had to hide my catcher's mitt.

"Mr. Mack called me over to the dugout and said, 'Ira, when you see Cobb trying to steal second base, you throw to third to head him off.'"

* * *

THOMAS EXPRESSED deep regret at the failure of the current A's to produce a pennant for Mack in his golden jubilee year in baseball.

He explained away the bad move in the purchase and sale of Bob Dillinger like this:

"Dillinger is a great player, but he is an individual player. He played the game for himself, and hit for himself. He was no good for the A's."

The speaker voted a share of credit to Earl and Roy Mack for "borrowing $1,800,000 to purchase A's stock and keep the Mack name and Philadelphia American league team" despite considerable dissension in the front office.

Thomas concluded by congratulating the Pottstown team for getting all the way to the state finals in a program that embraces 1600 teams.

BEFORE THOMAS took the rostrum, Cy Morgan, Philly scout, spoke briefly and commented upon the fine play of the Legions in the final series, which he had witnessed in full.

Other speakers included Bill Ramsey, zone manager of Ford Motor company, who presented the team with a plaque; Howard Cates, who introduced the speakers and presented team members with photographs; Charlie Gray, who awarded the district trophy to Leonard Rachild, past Legion post commander; and District commander Stickler, who awarded state runerup and Eastern championship trophies to Merle Harner, team captain.

Rachild shared master of ceremonies honors with his successor as Amole Post commander, Joseph A. Kelly, Jr. The former made presentations to team members, coaches and managers.

THE JUNIORS came off with neat personal hauls in addition to the many trophies they were presented. Each player and all the members of the board of strategy were awarded gold watches, properly engraved.

Honored were: Jess Baro, Dick and Dave Ricketts, Merle Harner, Leroy and John Hallman, Dave Suchoza, Dave King, Chip Mignona, Wilson Kulp, Carl Bodolus, Jim Price, Fred Harvey, Mike Kriczky, Dan Tholan, Dave Reidenouer, Merrill Renninger, Bill Baver, Carl Sundstrom, Coach Buck Rhoads, Manager Ray Kepner and scorekeeper Pat Sundstrom.

Parents of each of the players were introduced as were: Burgess William Griffith, Jim Rickmers, chairman of the championship series in Allentown; W. Leonard Becker, who with Cates, helped sponsor the team, and Gene Kauler, JHS coach.

Stowe Oldtimers Plan for Reunion

The Stowe Oldtimers Baseball association will begin making preparations for its annual blowout Sunday morning, it was announced last night by Eddie McEvoy, publicity chairman for the organization.

McEvoy said that the entire association will meet in the trophy room of the West End Fire company to set the date and make plans for the annual banquet to be held some time this Winter. Chairman Clyde Ludwig will preside.

The Oldtimers yearly come up with the daddy of all knife and fork league entertainment. They bring in dozens of baseball's top personalities, call in every possible oldtime baseball player of the area, and in general have one grand reunion.

McEvoy promises that 1950 will prove no exception in the series of banquets that have become a Pottstown area institution.

Bleacher Upholds Local Tradition on Hill Squad

Hill School football teams yearly have been representative parcels, but Pottstown in most recent seasons has been able to land a native son on the varsity squad.

The current campaign will prove no exception, for Dave Bleacher, 180-pound wingman from the 1949 Pottstown High Trojans, is making a spirited bid for a Blue-Gray starting lineup berth.

Bleacher, whose five-nine and chunky frame befits him more for tackle or guard duty, is deceptively fast and is an excellent pass receiver. Add to that his ability to sift through enemy clearance men on end sweeps and you have a pretty fair flankman.

* * *

ODDLY ENOUGH, the local representative on the 1949 undefeated Hill unit also was an end. He was John Frantz, who in Coach Jack Riley's words was the nearest thing to a "perfect player I ever coached."

Frantz, said Riley, never made a mistake on the field and moving pictures of the games prove it.

Before Frantz, the 1948 Hill squad included a chap named Joe Hahn, who had been graduated from Pottstown High after a brilliant football career. Hahn played a heap of tackle for the Blues.

THIS YEAR you'll find Hill gridders from New Orleans, Dallas, Jacksonville, Fla., Chattanooga and a place called Buffalo, Wyoming.

Incidentally, Bobby Handcock, a fifth former from Wyoming, is making a staunch bid for a pivot post. He tips in at a hefty 179 and handles the ball neatly, an element important to Riley's T and single-wing formations.

Nazarak Enters Hatfield Chase

HATFIELD, Sept. 27 — The foremost drivers in the East including Madman Mike Nazarak will be battlingthe pick of the nation in the 100-lap National Championship Race at the Hatfield Speedway this Sunday afternoon, October 1st.

This will be the second annual natonal title grind at the famous half-mile of clay, and a record-breaking crowd is anticipated, with more than sixty cars likely to be competing for the crown.

Nazarak is the local standout, as leading point-scorer of the Hatfield track for the 1950 season, but point-leaders from practically every district in the country will be in the battle that was last year won by Ralph Pratt, of Kansas City, Mo.

Spring City Nine Feted at Dinner

Baseball tossers of Spring City YMCA who brought the championship of French Creek Valley league to Spring City during the past season were honored at a testimonial dinner in Seven Stars restaurant, Ridge road, Monday night. The affair was sponsored by the directors and Spring City business men.

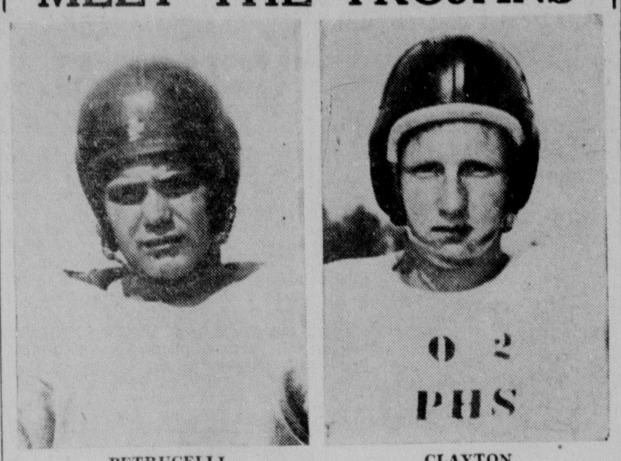

Robert W. Hallman Sr., president of the "Y", welcomed the group attending, and E. Earl Nelson, secretary, served as master of ceremonies. Mr. Nelson complimented the youths and voiced appreciation for annexing the title in the name of the YMCA.

It was announced the trophy, awarded the winning club, will be presented later and will be placed on display in the Spring City business section.

Members of the championship squad of ball players honored were Don Stauffer, Jim Renstchler, Larry Davis, Richard, Robert and James Mull, Terry Taschner, Paul Neborak, William Fagley, Richard Rosen, Alvin Stipa Jr., Lloyd Gumma and Glenn York.

Others attending included members of the board of directors, family members and friends.

MEET THE TROJANS

PETRUCELLI — CLAYTON

★ ★ ★ — ★ ★ ★

JIM PETRUCELLI, a mammoth senior guard, earned himself a regular job with the Trojans Monday when he booted an extra point through the uprights against Upper Merion. Whatever else big—six-foot, 190-pound—Petrucelli does this season, he'll be the EP man.

A easy-going chap, Jim probably would be a better ball player if he left his manners in the locker room. All he lacks to make a real bid for a starting job is a shot of savagery and more zip in his blocking. Defensively, Petrucelli stacks up with the best of them.

As a sophomore, Jim was a football manager, but because he grew and grew over the year, he reported as a candidate for rougher assignments in his Junior year. He learned a great deal as a jayvee center and guard, and is expected to put it to use, along with his husky frame this Fall.

GEORGE CLAYTON is another of the Trojan "toes." When PHS coaches were looking for a man with good leg power to kick off, Clayton was the choice.

A five-eight, 165-pound Senior, Clayton probably will see considerable action at guard, although he had very little experience before this season. He was with the jayvees a short time in 1949.

Along with kickoff assignments, George probably will make some field goal efforts, and share extra point work with Petrucelli.

Clayton lettered the past Spring as a reserve catcher and pinch-hitter with the Trojan nine. He probably will make a bid for an infield job this coming Spring.

Ursinus Gridders Brewing Surprise for Grid Rivals

Ursinus' doormat days may be at an end.

The Collegeville Bears, who have been more grisley than grizzly over the past several gridiron seasons, are showing signs of animation in pre-season drills as they prep for a Saturday home opener against Drexel Tech, an oldtime rival.

Young head coach Ray Gurzynski, promoted at the resignation of Kurht Wieneke, and his assistants, Ron Landes and Harry Spangler, are grooming a real surprise for the clubs that have consistently knocked the Bruins kicking.

The surprise revolves around blond little Don Young, triple-threat halfback and team captain, but the slippery Don will have lots of help this round. It will be a new experience for Young, who has carried pickaback Ursinus through three disastrous seasons.

WHEN THE BEARS trot out Saturday, slick Bill Poore, a six-foot, 160-pound magician will be at the T-formation quarterback slot, with right half Bill Fischer and fullback Al Miglio or Ben Maliken rounding out the backfield.

Fronting for the quartet of ball movers will be one of the bulkiest walls of recent Ursinus history. And the most weight is right down the middle where 235-pound Bill Helfferich, son of the college's vice-president, holds forth as snapperback.

Helfferich was especially impressive in squad scrimmages against Albright, Moravian and West Chester.

Herbie Fry, a Senior letterman from Lititz, and Steve Muench, a 202-pound returnee are riding the inside rail for guard posts. Johnny Ehnot (190), Bob Davis (201) and Frank Lafferty (193) are leading men in the race for tackle jobs.

LINE COACH Landes looks on his wing duo of six-eight Bob Swett a sophomore, and peppery Gene Pascucci as two of the pillars of his forward unit. He is particularly high on Swett, who is high on pass-grabbing, which may become one of the Bears' best offensive weapons this round.

* * *

THE BEARS meet Haverford at after their opener, then tangle with Dickinson, Swarthmore, Wagner, Franklin and Marshall, Adelphi and Susquehanna on successive outings.

On paper, it is a heavy card for the oft-trampled Bruins, but the general atmosphere is one of optimism on the Ursinus campus.

The youthful coaching staff has injected a new competitive spirit in the 1950 candidates. They figure a long draught of that spirit, with a shot or two of new blood will be enough to carry the Bears through to an even-steven or better year.

At that, it would represent the most notable gridiron achievement in years at Ursinus.

They Never Come Back

Charles Comes Into Own, Easily Defeats Old Joe

By GAYLE TALBOT

YANKEE STADIUM, New York, Sept. 27 (AP) — Ezzard Charles, a much greater fighter than the world had thought he was, battered Joe Louis, the old champion, into bloody, helpless defeat tonight to prove once again that they never come back.

At the close of 15 savage rounds in Yankee Stadium the once peerless Dark Destroyer was so badly beaten that it appeared doubtful he could have answered more than another bell or two.

The unanimous decision of the two judges and referee Mark Conn was only a formality after the two weary warriors had embraced at the finish. The Associated Press score card credited Charles with 12 rounds, gave Louis only two and called one even.

Louis, trying to regain at 36 the crown he wore for nearly 12 years before he retired in March of '49, was completely unable to cope with the slender, relentless slasher from Cincinnati.

TOWARD THE END, Charles, who conceded 33½ pounds to the old Bomber, was trying for a knockout and Louis at times looked as though he might not weather the storm, though he never ceased to try to fight back.

It was a sad finish for the once great champion in the eyes of the thousands who had seen him at the height of his ring glory. His left eye was pounded shut and blood poured from his nose, as, in the 14th round, he held momentarily to the top rope and appeared uncertain whether he could continue.

Charles' left orb was sealed for the last five rounds, too, but he never ceased to bore in and batter the veteran who had sought to win back his title where such greats of the past as Bob Fitzsimmons, Jim Corbett, Jim Jeffries, Jack Dempsey and Max Schmeling had failed.

Charles, holder of the National Boxing association version of the world championship since he defeated Jersey Joe Walcott last Summer, proved his claim to universal recognition. The confidence he gained tonight will make him a tough man to deprive of the bauble at any near future date.

ALTHOUGH SCALING only 184½ to Louis' 218, he met the issue squarely from the first bell, carried the fight to Joe most of the way and never flinched even when, on two occasions, Louis clipped him solidly and obviously hurt him.

Twice Ezzard was in trouble, in the fourth and tenth rounds. In the fourth Joe caught him flush with a left-right to the head and buckled his knees in the first 30 seconds, but Charles survived the ensuing onslaught and was fighting back fiercely before the bell. Joe had his second and last chance in the 10th, which he won by a wide margin, he staggered the champion with a short right to the face at the outset of the round and dealt him a brutal beating from there until the bell as the crowd yelled madly for a knockout. But Joe could never corner his man and set him up for the one big, finish punch, and the opportunity never came his way again.

SITTING DEJECTEDLY in his dressing room later, bathing a bruised left hand in a pail of ice water, Louis declared he would never fight again.

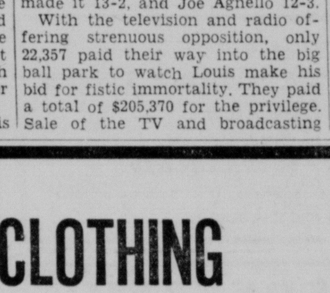

"I'm through," he said. "I just didn't have it. I did the best I could."

There was no denying that. The old Bomber never ceased to throw the fists which once paralyzed his foes, but his reflexes were too slow to enable him to set off one of the flurries of killing blows which characterized the great years of his career.

Referee Mark Conn gave the old champion a better shake than either of his fellow officials. He marked 10 rounds for Charles and five for Joe. Judge Frank Forbes made it 13-2, and Joe Agnello 12-3.

With the television and radio offering strenuous opposition, only 22,357 paid their way into the big ball park to watch Louis make his bid for fistic immortality. They paid a total of $205,370 for the privilege. Sale of the TV and broadcasting rights added another $140,000 to the pot.

It was estimated roughly that Louis made $100,000 for the night's wrok and that Charles will pocket approximately $57,000, much the largest sum he ever has earned for a fight.

Trojanettes Triumph 3-1

History was made on Franklin field annex yesterday when Pottstown High's scrapping Trojanette hockey team pinned a 3-1 loss on West Chester High in a home opener.

The victory was the first in the history of the rivalry for the Trojanettes over the perennially powerful Warriorettes, and marked the debut of Mrs. Marion Trievel as coach of the PHS aggregation.

In the first minute of play, Joy Glenn dribbled the length of the field to ram home a Trojanette goal. The locals were never headed thereafter.

Peg Himes, on two neat assists from Marg Allyn, banged in the other Trojanette markers after West Chester had earned a temporary stalemate on Marie Lower's ringer.

POTTSTOWN'S backfield of Dolores Mauger, Dolores Wampler, Gloria Mace, Mary Lou Singer, Cynthia Garrow and Joyce Hall turned in exceptionally fine defensive play and reeled off several assisting drives far into West Chester territory.

In the second game, an inexperienced PHS jayvee unit dropped a close 3-1 nod to the yearling Warriorettes. Sally Lou Moyer scored the PHS goal.

TIGERS WIN, BOSOX BOW OUT

NEW YORK, Sept. 27 (AP)—The floundering Philadelphia Phils dropped a double header to the New York Giants this afternoon, 8-7 and 5-0, yet managed to move closer toward the National League pennant.

With the Brooklyn Dodgers splitting against the Boston Braves, any combination of two—two Philly wins, two Brooklyn defeats, or one Philly win and one Brooklyn defeat—will do the trick of nailing down the first flag in 35 years for the Whiz Kids.

The Phils battled from behind all day against the Giants. In the opener, they came up with a five run rally in the eighth inning to tie the score at seven-all and send the game into overtime. But even their sensational relief star, Jim Konstanty, couldn't save them.

Konstanty, making his 72nd mound appearance of the year, a modern major league record, was rocked for a single by Al Dark with one out in the 10th and Monte Irvin on second, Irvin coming home with the winning run on a close play at the plate.

On this play, Andy Seminick, the Phils' hard-hitting catcher, was injured as Irvin slid into him and had to stay out of the second game. The injury, however, may not be serious as it at first seemed. It was diagnosed as sprained ankle.

Both starters in the opener, Robin Roberts for the Phils and Monte Kennedy for the Giants, weren't around at the finish. Konstanty was charged with the defeat, his seventh, while lefty Dave Koslo, pitching three shutout and hitless innings of relief, was credited with the victory, His 13th of the year.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 27 (AP)—Sam Chapman snapped out of a paralyzing slump with a dramatic ninth inning home run with Ferris Fain on base to beat the New York Yankees 8 to 7 and extended the American League pennant race at least one more day.

And adding insult in injury, Chapman's blast into the left field seats on a three-ball two-strike count pitch, lowered the boom on the Yankees' sensational rookie pitcher Ed Ford. The 21-year-old left hander had won nine straight games before today. Ford came in to pitch in the seventh after Johnny Hopp batted for starter Ed Lopat.

As a result of the sudden-like Chapman poke, the Yankees still need two victories or two Detroit defeats or a combination of the two, to win their 17th Junior circuit flag.

Chapman, the likeable Californian, had gone 10 times at bat before he connected on Ford. The big outfielder hadn't driven a run home in 19 games. Even today, against Lopat and Ford, his previous best was an infield out hopper.

The one-out, last-ditch homer spoiled a great Yankee rally which produced six runs in the seventh inning off starting pitcher Joe Coleman, the A's sorearmed righthander.

Brooks Miss Chance

BROOKLYN, Sept. 27 (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers blew an opportunity to close in on the Philadelphia Phillies today by splitting a doubleheader with the Boston Braves.

Brooklyn took the opener, 9-6, but lost the nightcap, 4-2. The split moved the Dodgers to within four games of the Phils who lost a doubleheader to the New York Giants but a sweep would have moved the Brooks dangerously close.

A grand slam homer by veteran third baseman Bob Elliott in the sixth inning helped Johnny Sain to his 20th victory—the fourth time in the last five years that the right-hander had won 20 or more.

Brecheen Wins

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 27 (AP)—Harry Brecheen pitched a three-hit, 1-0 victory over the Cincinnati Reds tonight, but Willard Ramsdell also held the Cardinals to three hits, and it was a first-inning error by first baseman Ted Kluszewski that let in the winning run.

Thus the Cards climbed back to the .500 mark, with 74 games won and 74 lost.

Peanuts Lowrey singled in the first, and got to second on an infield out. On another infield out Kluszewski tried to nail Lowrey at third but threw low and Lowrey scored.

Kiner Connects

CHICAGO, Sept. 27 (AP)—The Chicago Cubs got away to a four run lead in the first inning today, but the Pittsburgh Pirates tied the score in the second inning and went on to win, 7 to 4, before a crowd of 4783.

Ralph Kiner hit his 47th homer of the year in the fifth inning.

There were other homers by Andy Pafko, Carl Sawatski, Gus Bell and Jack Phillips.

The Pirates made 14 hits off Johnny Klippstein, Warren Hacker, Walt Dubiel and Doyle Lade.

Vernon Law stopped the Cubs after they had disposed of Bob Chesnes in the first inning.

Tigers Cling

DETROIT, Sept. 27 (AP) — The Detroit Tigers found their claws again today as they outfought the St. Louis Browns 5-4 to pick up a full game in the American League race and keep their slender pennant hopes alive.

The Detroit attack, which had been almost non-existent in the last few games, showed its old-time form on two occasions today and that was all the Tigers needed to nose out the hard-fighting St. Louis club.

Detroit bunched four hits, including Pat Mullin's fourth homer, in a four-run sixth inning to take a 4-1 lead which Art Houtteman could not hold as he yielded a run in the seventh.

Houtteman, making his second try for win No. 20, finally was shelled out in the St. Louis ninth as the Brownies hammered home a pair of runs to tie it at four-all.

Former Tiger Stubby Overmire, who had won his last three games, took over St. Louis' pitching duties in the ninth and was greeted by a booming triple off Johnny Groth's bat. The Brown's walked the next two men intentionally to load the bases for pinch-hitter Hoot Evers, whose long fly enabled Groth to scoot home with the winning run.

Sox Swan Song

BOSTON, Sept. 27 (AP) — Boston hopes for an American League pennant were dashed completely today when the Washington Senators twice whipped the Red Sox, 2-0 and 6-3.

And the young man who drove the final spike into the Sox was the same one who beat them in the pennant playoff game in 1948—Gene Bearden.

The lefthanded knuckleballer, who pitched Cleveland to victory two years ago, won today's second game.

Cuban righthander Conrado Marrero blanked the Sox in the opener. It was the third shutout for the Sox this year. They had been blanked previously by Ray Scarborough, then pitching for Washington, and the New York Yankees' Ed Lopat.

Feller in Form

CLEVELAND, Sept. 27 (AP)—Bob Feller shut out the Chicago White Sox, 7-0, tonight as the Cleveland Indians ended their home season by extending a winning streak to seven games, their longest string of the season.

The Indians drove starter Ray Scarborough from the mound in the fifth when they scored five runs on singles by Feller, Bob Kennedy and Al Rosen, a double by Larry Doby and two walks.

Jaycees to Continue Projects Sponsorship, Conduct Membership Drive in Coming Year

Pottstown's Junior Chamber of Commerce last night voted to continue sponsorship of its seven annual projects and add a membership drive during the year.

The dinner meeting of 18 members was held at the Elks home.

Two teams of five members each will compete in getting members for the organization. The winning team will attend the State Jaycee directors meeting in Harrisburg in December.

Business, professional and industrial men between 21 and 35 are eligible to join the Jaycee. Its principal objectives are leadership training and civic betterment.

The local branch, founded in 1946, has had 39 members since its inception. It is time for a larger membership, members felt. Charles E. Bast is chairman of the drive.

* * * *

OTHER PROJECTS to be undertaken for a second, and in some cases, third year, are:

Assisting the Community chest drive. The Jaycee will canvass West End industries.

Judging the Recreation commission's Hallowe'en parade Oct. 31.

Holding a Christmas party in the YMCA for underprivileged children. Guest list will be expanded from 25 to 50 kids this year. As usual, gifts and Santa Claus will be present.

Conducting the local March of Dimes campaign in January.

Sponsoring a trophy for the Midget Softball league. The Jaycee sponsored a trophy the past year. Then the league's name was changed. So a new award was deemed necessary.

Assisting the fish rodeo plans next Summer.

And spraying areas of Pottstown and Kenilworth with insecticide next Summer.

John McCaslin, president, was in charge of the meeting.

11 KILLED IN CLASH

MANILA, Thursday, Sept. 28 (AP)—Nine Communist Hukbalahaps and to Philippines soldiers were killed last night in a clash 20 miles south of Manila.

Brewing Interests Give Beer for GIs in Korea

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27 (AP)—The Army today accepted 1,200,000 cans of beer from brewing interests as a gift to fighting men in Korea.

The Army said the offer of free beer was made some time ago after there had been some complaints from servicemen that a fation of one can a day to front line troops had been cut off.

Some people in this country objected against any issue of beer to the fighting men, but the Army said it had received no formal complaints from organizations.

Clay tile has been used since the 17th century for kitchen walls in Holland.

PROBE SMUGGLING REPORT

HONG KONG, Sept. 27 (AP)—U. S. and British authorities today began investigating a report that an unnamed Norwegian steamer had smuggled 10,000 drums of oil to the Chinese Communists.
